Nixon may toughen U.S. campus policy

By the Associated Press

An announcement by President Nixon on his administration's policy for dealing with campus disorders is expected this weekend. An Illinois congressman said it would step up enforcement of two existing federal laws. There were new protests at several colleges around the nation Friday and two persons were hurt at a Denver high school disturbance. But students at one New Jersey high school marched to demonstrate racial goodwill.

At San Francisco State College the four-month student strike was over but acting President S.I. Hayakawa said he would wait and see whether the peace was permanent before deciding whether to grant protesters amnesty.

In Washington, after a series of postponements the office of Robert Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare, said that the President would issue a statement on the disorders "in the imminent future."

Nixon originally said at a March 14 news conference that he would make the statement last Monday or Tuesday. Then it was said that Finch's office would send out the administration position Thursday or Friday.

Friday Finch's office said the secretary's recommendations had been sent to the President.

Rep. Roman C. Pucinski, D-Ill., said the Nixon program would call for enforcement of statutes barring interstate travel to incite riots and authorizing the withholding of federal aid to students taking part in violent disorders.

Pucinski said the program was worked out at a meeting between Nixon, Finch and Atty. Gen. John Mitchell. He said he believed it would lead to "more accommodations than confrontations on the campus."

In San Francisco, Hayakawa said the terms of the agreement which ended the long strike were not final but were recommendations to him. On the amnesty proposals he said he would wait until April 11 to see if students behave.

Hayakawa said he had told strike leaders, "You claim to be leaders. If you can establish your leadership and keep the campus cool, I will withhold the penalties."

Gov. Ronald Reagan called the settlement a "victory" for the people of California. Hayakawa said he would not get into the question of who won.

Members of the Black Students Union and the Third World Liberation Front—who spearheaded the protest—called the settlement "a foundation for revolutionary change."

The friendly demonstration took place at the New Brunswick, N.J., high school, where 1,500 students marched arm-in-arm and sang to prove "the willingness of both black and white students to peacefully work out problems that have arisen."

No link now seen In death of coeds

By DON KRUPP
Of The Press Staff

Indications today were that the murder of 23-year-old University of Michigan coed Jane Louise Mixer late Thursday or early Friday is not related to the murders of two Eastern Michigan University coeds in separate instances within the last 21 months.

"If I had to say right now, I'd say there's no connection," State Police Det. Ken Taylor said this morning.

Miss Mixer, the daughter of a prominent Muskegon dentist and his wife, was shot to death. The previous murder victims — 19-year-old Mary Fleszar and Joan F. Schell, 20 — died from stab wounds. Taylor said on the basis of existing information, no connection is apparent.

Miss Mixer reportedly left the Ann Arbor campus, where she was a law student, Thursday afternoon. Unconfirmed stories claim she was in the company of an unidentified male.

She had notified her parents that she was coming home for the weekend. Her body was found yesterday morning in a gift-wrapped package, apparently intended as a birthday present for her mother who was lying beside her.

The present and several other items were in a shopping bag from a Detroit department store although there is no proof that she purchased the gift in Detroit after leaving the campus, Taylor said.

The victim's body was found yesterday morning just inside the entrance to the cemetery. The cause of death apparently was two gunshot wounds in the head. It is not known whether or not she had been sexually assaulted.

The student's father reported her missing Thursday night when she did not return home as expected. Police officials in Muskegon then notified Ann Arbor area agencies who eventually connected the report with the murder victim.

According to detectives, it appears that Miss Mixer was killed elsewhere before being brought to the cemetery. The general area in which her body was discovered is a popular spot for lovers, according to neighbors, lending some support to an assumption that the murderer was familiar with the area.

The scene is located near the Wayne-Washtenaw county line east of Ypsilanti and northeast of Willow Run Airport in Van Buren Township.

Early reports from police were that Miss Mixer had been beaten and then strangled with a stocking, although late Friday an autopsy revealed the gunshot wounds in the head.

The body was found by Mrs. Nancy Grow of Denton after her 13-year-old son Mark, on his way to school about 7:10 a.m., returned with a package in a blood-stained shopping bag. The Grow's live across the street from the cemetery.

According to Mrs. Grow, the body was covered by a yellow raincoat and a blanket and was laid on its back beneath a headstone about a foot inside wire fence. It was fully-clothed except for the shoes, the housewife reported.

State Police from Ypsilanti and the East Lansing crime lab were at the scene yesterday with the local post in charge of investigations. A tire track reportedly was found at the scene with a East Lansing for further study.

The slaying was the third within two years in the Ypsilanti area — all involving university coeds.

In the summer of 1967 Miss Fleszar was found dead in Superior Township while last summer Miss Schell was discovered murdered between Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor. Neither of the previous crimes have been solved with authorities presently at a near standstill in investigations.

Sponberg To head Speak Out

For the second consecutive year, Harold E. Sponberg, president of Eastern Michigan University, has been named chairman of the Speak Out for Michigan Committee in connection with Michigan Week, May 17-24.

The purpose of the committee is to encourage clubs, schools and other organizations to have speakers to tell about Michigan Week and to assist such groups to obtain speakers if necessary.

The committee has lined up speakers from industry, education and the clergy as well as state government leaders in all fields and areas of interest. These speakers are prepared to discuss various aspects of the state's assets and resources.

Michigan Week is an annual series of events designed to bring these things to the attention of the citizens of the state and the nation as a whole.

Any group desiring assistance in obtaining a speaker should send a post card to Gary L. Evans, coordinator of the Speak Out for Michigan Committee, 127 Quirk Building at Eastern. The necessary forms will then be sent to the group.

Features, comics are 'expecting'

The "family" of B.C., Trudy, Dateline, Abby, Drs. Brothers and Coleman, Marmaduke and others are "expecting!" Beginning Monday a complete new page will be added daily in The Press, containing some of the best comic strips and features available.

It has been more than two years since daily comics were featured in The Press. Now, as another step in bringing the Ypsilanti community the best local newspaper it is possible to publish, The Press has added vastly expanded comics and features.

With the added comics, The Press will be offering four pages daily devoted to entertaining and enlightening features. The popular Life and Leisure Pages will continue, and the special Features — TV Listings Page will run next to the Comics Page.

One of the top new features is noted astrologer-newsman Sydney Omarr's "Astrological Forecast," which begins today on Page 12.

Two other bright new features added earlier this month, "Children's Letters to God" and "The Lockhorns," will be fixtures on the new comics page.

Other new features on the comics page will include: "Try and Stop Me," a witty column by nationally known author, lecturer, columnist, book publisher and TV panelist Bennett Cerf.

"There Oughta Be a Law," a laugh-filled large comic panel devoted to making everyday problems uproariously funny.

"Mandrake," daily adventures of the famed comic-strip magician, Lother and Narda. Mandrake begins a new story

Boys' Club bus Might be lethal

Members of the Ypsilanti Boys' Club have been riding a potentially lethal bus, according to reports about buses scheduled for recall by the General Motors Corp.

Walter R. Janke, executive director of the club, said the bus hasn't been used since he had heard reports of a possible brake failure.

Janke said the bus was bought in 1966 and that he was checking with the General Motors dealer after learning of the "death bus" report.

An article in The Detroit News said some 200 "potentially lethal" school buses are still being operated in the metropolitan Detroit area.

The article said the 1957-68 Chevrolet and GMC Truck and Coach Division buses are included in a nationwide recall campaign of 10,450 school buses announced by the General Motors Corp.

School districts in almost 100 Michigan communities were reported to have one or more of the buses.

However, no school districts in the Ypsilanti or Washtenaw County area were reported to have any of the affected buses. But in Ann Arbor the YWCA was reported to have one and Camp Pennington two.

Private Vietnam talks Confirmed by Laird

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has confirmed the existence of private negotiations to end the Vietnam war and said if all talks fail the administration has an "alternative" to current policies.

Laird's disclosures came as a surprise when the subject of Vietnam was raised briefly Friday during a Senate disarmament subcommittee hearing on missile defense.

To a question from Democrat J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas, Laird said the administration is seeking peace

"not only through formal diplomatic channels formally in Paris, but privately as well."

He did not elaborate. There were published reports earlier this week that private talks may be going on in Vientiane, the capital of Laos. But Henry Cabot Lodge, chief U.S. negotiator in Paris, said he did not know about them.

THE WORLD OF RELIGION

Church religion dead in China

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
NEW YORK (AP) — After surviving, at least partially, for more than a decade and a half under the heavy pressure of Red rule, religion in mainland China today is dead in its institutional forms.

That is the conclusion of church experts who piece together the available fragments of information on conditions in that vast, semiclosed country of blanketing totalitarianism.

Outwardly, they say the last vestiges of Christianity, Islam and the ancient faiths of Buddhism and Taoism have been wiped out.

"Organized religion" no longer exists in China, says the Rev. L. La Dany, a Catholic editor of a Hong Kong newsletter. But he adds that "religious belief" still persists among an unknown number of Chinese people.

In other Communist states, religious groups have managed to continue functioning, although usually under sharp limitations. This also was the case in China at least until 1966.

But since the wave of violence of the cultural revolution that swept the country at that time, the last remnants of religious activity apparently have disappeared.

That upheaval brought "an end to external manifestations of all religions," Father La Dany writes in the Jesuit weekly, America. Bibles were burned, temples and churches wrecked or sealed.

When Mao Tse-tung came into power 20 years ago, there were about two million Catholics and a million Protestants among China's more than 600 million persons. Most others espoused Buddhism, Taoism and the old, ethical code of Confucianism. About 10 million were Moslems.

Through the ensuing years, all religious activity was brought under rigid state control and rising intimidation. Missionaries were expelled or imprisoned and contacts completely cut off with churches elsewhere.

Catholics, in order to continue their worship, were required to openly repudiate allegiance to the Pope and become part of a separate "Patriotic Catholic Church," set up in 1957. Those who refused to disavow Rome were imprisoned.

But even the "Patriotic Church," considered by many as schismatic now, "has become a martyred church," Father La Dany says. He adds that its 200 or 300 priests, dragged off by rampaging Red Guards, have dropped from the Pope and become part of a

Sea monster account Compared to leviathan

An area man believes he has found passages in the Bible that refer to the 35-ton sea creature that was washed up on a Tecoluta, Mexico beach recently.

The carcass of the creature as described by observers and scientists is 30 feet long and 18 feet wide. It was covered with hard armor, jointed so it could swim. A 10-foot tusk of porous bone, estimated to weigh about a ton, protruded from the head.

Attempts to move the carcass with heavy tractors and crane were unsuccessful initially it was reported.

Some scientists at the scene had said the body of the sea creature may be a remnant of the age of dinosaurs preserved in the Arctic area.

The age of dinosaurs is estimated to be about 155,000,000 years ago, during the Mesozoic Era.

Reports indicated that poor fishermen in the area had cut off some of the creature's fins and eaten them. The carcass was badly mutilated.

First description of the creature prompted biologists to classify it as a narwhal, a whale which has a spiral horn protruding from its head. However, after viewing it they could not match it with any known sea creature.

Lowell E. Hudson of Plymouth said he first saw the account of the monster while he was at work. He is a cutter and grinder at the Hydra-matic plant.

Hudson said he recognized the description and told his co-workers he could find it in the Bible.

He said he has been a Christian all his life and had begun serious study of the Bible about five or six years ago.

Merton says Hate runs deep

NEW YORK (AP) — Commenting on the modern American scene, the noted Trappist monk and author, Thomas Merton, says, "We have hated our need for compassion and suppressed it as a 'weakness' and our cruelty has far outstripped our sense of mercy."

In a book, "Conjectures of a Guilty Bystander," published by Doubleday, he says, "It suddenly dawned on me that the anti-Americanism in the world today is a hatred as deep and as lasting and as all-inclusive as anti-Semitism."

Schubert Mass to be sung

On Palm Sunday, March 30, at 4 p.m. a performance of the Schubert Mass in E Flat will be heard at Christ Church, 61 Grosse Pointe Blvd., in Grosse Pointe Farms.

The Mass will be sung by the Festival Choir of Christ Church. An orchestra made up largely of members of the Grosse Pointe South High School Orchestra will accompany the choir and soloists.

The E Flat Mass is the sixth and last of Schubert's settings and was written in the year of his death, 1828. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Power of faith

By Woodi Ishmael

Christians number less than one half of one per cent of the total population of Japan. In view of this it is revealing to see how many artists are Christian and have created works from stories of the Bible. To appreciate Japanese art we must understand its diversity. The Japanese, while grounded in tradition, have an open mind to changes and influences of the contemporary world. They have a rare gift of combining the best of many cultures yet retaining concepts of their own both ancient and contemporary. The above drawing of Jesus on the cross from the work by Fujishiro is typical of combining a tragic story with modern geometric design in traditional block print style. Such dramatic works of art break down barriers of communication and provide for a common bond where other means often fail.

Bishops form talk board

The Catholic Bishops of Michigan by unanimous vote this week decided to take the first steps toward setting up boards of mediation and arbitration throughout the state. The boards will deal with disputes in the church involving laymen, nuns and other members of religious orders, priests, or bishops in their relationships with each other.

The action was authorized at the conclusion of a 2-day meeting of the Michigan Bishops at St. John's Provincial Seminary, Plymouth, presided over by the Most Reverend John F. Darden, Archbishop of Detroit.

Others in attendance were Bishop Allen J. Babcock and Auxiliary Bishop Joseph C. McKinney of Grand Rapids, Bishop Francis F. Reh and Auxiliary Bishop James A. Hickey of Saginaw, Bishop Alexander

M. Zoleski of Lansing, Bishop Charles A. Salatkka of Marquette, and Detroit Auxiliary Bishops Joseph M. Breitenbeck, Walter J. Schoenherr and Thomas J. Gumbleton. Bishop Gumbleton was named chairman of a study committee which will investigate how best to structure such boards for church purposes and the kinds of procedures that might be most effectively used. This committee will be set up on a statewide basis and include laity, religious, and priests. It is expected to report back to the Bishops before June.

As envisioned, the state plan will call for use of every mechanism presently existing for settling disputes before the boards become involved. The board members' first duty would be to mediate — use every process possible to find a way to bring the parties to agreement. Only when that fails would they go into the formality of conducting official hearings.

Church Plans Revival

A revival is being planned at the First Christian Church at 4859 Ellsworth Rd. for March 30 through April 4.

Evangelist Dan Schantz from Moberly, Mo. will conduct the daily 7:30 p.m. services.

Mr. Schantz, 26-years-old, is a professor at Central Christian College in Moberly in addition to preaching in ministries throughout Indiana, Missouri and Michigan.

The evangelist studied at Great Lakes Bible College in Lansing and Central Christian College. He has worked with the Cecil Todd Evangelistic Team which does radio and television programs plus tent revivals.

Sermon topics set for this spring revival will be "The Taste of Gravel," "Two-bit Message," "The Power of the Ordinary," "Positive Proof of God," "Dare to Use All You Have," "Sunflower Seeds," and "A Tough-Minded Christ."

Plymouth Rd. Crash kills two

A head-on collision on Plymouth Rd. late yesterday afternoon claimed the lives of the two drivers involved — an Ann Arbor man and a Plymouth woman.

Twenty-seven-year old John Reynolds Jarvis of 119 Grandview St., Ann Arbor, and Jeanette Anna Geitgey, 56, of 3995 Berry Rd., Plymouth, died from injuries suffered in the mishap, which occurred about 5:45 p.m. Dayette Jeanne Jarvis, 23 — the driver's wife, was a passenger and was injured. She was reported in fair condition today at University Hospital.

According to Sheriff's Department deputies, Jarvis was eastbound on Plymouth Rd. traveling about 80 miles per hour. He reportedly lost control of his car, veering off the right side of the pavement and then proceeding across the centerline and into the path of Mrs. Geitgey's auto, deputies said.

Jarvis was driving on a suspended license and had a record which included 17 convictions since 1961 — four for speeding and three for reckless driving.

Deputies said he and Mrs. Geitgey both died at the scene of the accident in Ann Arbor Township, just west of Dixboro Rd.

They were the eighth and ninth persons killed on Washtenaw County Roads this year.

U-M will hike Housing rates

ANN ARBOR — Room and board rate increases of about $40 per student for University of Michigan housing will become effective with the Fall term.

The $40 increase for room and board in a double room represents the average increase. The largest increase, for a single room, is $50.

Rates have not been increased since 1967-68.

Barbara W. Newell, acting vice president for student affairs, said student-staff deliberations on raising the rates were based on four factors:

— Costs of operation will increase in 1969-70 due to previously negotiated wage levels, increased food costs, higher utility charges, and greater costs in goods and services purchased by University Housing.

— Capital formation objectives as determined last fall during the Residential College discussions must be met.

— Residency in University Housing will be entirely voluntary next year. Any rate increase must take into account the less competitive position in which the University's housing might be placed, and, — Seeking to minimize the rising cost of education, the University did not increase rates last year.

"If rates were not to be increased, the only alternative would have been to reduce services," Dr. Newell said. "The net revenue projections for 1968-69 must be met next year in order to meet debt service obligations."

"Reductions in services were investigated," she said, "but were rejected either because they might leave the housing less competitive or the savings in rates might be offset by the student's need to purchase these services elsewhere."

Dr. Newell said that while financial needs could be established to require a larger increase, "a greater increase was rejected because it might have a negative impact on occupancy and an inflationary impact on the off-campus market."

Bus might Be lethal

The Michigan Trenching Service Inc. of Ypsilanti, was reported to have two buses that might be involved.

A spokesman for Michigan Trenching said the firm owns no buses, but that some of its GM trucks might be involved. He added that the company had received no notification of any vehicles from GM.

Several school superintendents were grateful when told of the unsafe brakes. But others said they would await official word from GM before taking the buses off the road.

The state Department of Education decided not to order the buses off the road.

"The information we have from GM is that there is no immediate danger," said Robert McKerr, associate superintendent of the department's bureau of administrative services.

"We are assuming that GM will request the buses be returned for maintenance."

U-M sets Land for Housing

ANN ARBOR — The University of Michigan regents assigned approximately 20 acres of land on North Campus yesterday for sale to University fraternities and sororities for the future construction of housing facilities.

The land, at the northwest corner of Glacier Way and Huron Parkway, would provide space for 18 construction sites and a four-acre recreation field.

Any sales of land will be at full market value, and there will be no investment of University funds in any projects. All land so sold will revert to the University if it is not used for student housing. Planning and architectural development of the area will require the approval of the University in the sales agreement.

May 1970 has been set by the regents as a deadline to determine whether enough fraternities and sororities have requested specific land parcels to cover development costs. If enough are received, the University will bring these requests to the regents for final land sale.

North Campus land is being sought by fraternities and sororities because many present housing facilities are in older buildings in the central campus and pose prospects of major renovations.

In Denver a demonstrator was hit by a shotgun blast and a policeman was felled by a flying rock during the second day of Mexican-American demonstrations at Denver West High School.

The protesters are seeking more Mexican-American instruction in the public schools. In the protest Friday police used tear gas to break up large gatherings. Both the injured were in satisfactory condition.

Elsewhere:
Buffalo, N.Y.—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller met with a 20-

Newark, N.J.—About 300 dissident black and white students rallied to set up "liberation" classes after walking out of Essex County College. They were seeking the ouster of some administrators and reorientation of the curriculum.

Washington—The head of the American Federation of Teachers urged that students be organized in unions to facilitate orderly negotiation with college authorities. Union president David Selden said the federal government should help establish broad base multiracial unions.

Albuquerque, N.M.—City and University of New Mexico officials told the Students for a Democratic Society to take their national convention somewhere else. The same convention has been rejected by University of Texas officials.

MEMO FROM A CAR DEALER

THE ART OF DOUBLE TALK

GENE BUTMAN

"It pays to be honest," the old adage says. And it does too, in the long run. But if you're in the car business looking for quick results without worrying too much about the future, it can be tempting to indulge in a little double talk.

Take price, for instance. It is a normal human reaction for all of us to want to pay the lowest price. Providing two given products are identical, the lowest price signifies the greatest value. That, naturally, is what we want for our hard earned money.

Realizing that a low price attracts prospective buyers, a dealer can take a worn-out car and advertise it at a "bargain" price. But, of course, it isn't a bargain. If he then tries to switch the buyer to a better car at a much higher price, it is almost certain that it isn't a bargain either.

The dealer with the switcheroo technique may feel that the resulting traffic created by his advertising justifies the deception, though this is seldom the case. A buyer lured to a dealer's lot by a false low price, or perhaps a car that doesn't even exist, reacts adversely when he realizes the deception.

A reputable dealer has the cars he advertises. If he wants to keep his reputation, he reconditions them so that they will render their owners reliable service. The irony is that his advertised prices may seem higher than his unethical competition. Really, the only thing higher is the value the customer receives.

See you next Saturday.

Wayne Council Seat filled

Appointment breaks 3-way deadlock

WAYNE — The City Council, in a special meeting held yesterday, March 21, unanimously appointed a new councilman to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of William Stottlemeyer last month.

The new City Councilman is James G. Glennie. He is 66 years old and makes his home at 35428 Elm St. He is a semi-retired industrialist who formerly owned and operated his own business, Glennie Industries in Romulus Township.

Glennie is a long-time Wayne resident who has been actively serving on the city's Industrial Development Committee. He is also a director for the Wayne Bank and is currently active in construction plans for their Sheldon Rd.-Michigan Ave. branch in Canton Township.

He is active in the area YMCA and has been participating in their expansion and building program. He is a member of the Wayne Rotary Club and is also serving actively on the Wayne Centennial Committee.

This is Glennie's first political office. The council's unanimous action on his appointment broke a deadlock which came at the last regular council session when councilmen failed to reach agreement on three persons put into nomination for the vacancy.

Although it was speculated that one of the three placed in nomination at last Tuesday's meeting would most likely be the new councilman — Miram Hawley, Paul Lada, or Nathan Weiser — it was emphasized by city officials that councilmen were not bound legally to appoint one of these three nominees.

Robbery of chief Still investigated

The police investigation into the armed robbery Tuesday night of Ypsilanti Police Chief and Mrs. Ray Walton is continuing.

Officials of the police department today reported nothing new in their investigation. Chief and Mrs. Walton were robbed at gun point after they left a funeral home in S. Adams Street. About $30 was taken from them.

Our viewpoint

Ypsilanti High team, coach Deserve 'hats-off' salute

Hats off to the Braves of Ypsilanti High!

Win (we hope) or lose tonight, the Ypsi High Braves and their fine coach, Dick Ouellette, are the toast of the town — and rightfully so.

Seldom has one community had such a fine over-all record of prep and college athletic achievement as has Ypsilanti in recent years. State wrestling and basketball titles won by Ypsilanti and Willow Run High Schools, national titles and laurels earned by Eastern Michigan University — the list is long and very imposing for a once-sleepy little town that held a small but excellent teachers' training school.

And for Ypsi High, just as it was last year, it's go for broke tonight — it's all on the line when the Braves square off against Grand Rapids Otawa Hills for the state Class A high school championship.

But regardless of the final score, the team will still be No. 1 in the hearts of the Ypsilanti community. Seldom in the history of Michigan prep athletics has a school compiled such a winning record and then made the final game for two successive years.

While the Braves have been spotlighted in their local daily newspaper all season, it is nice to see that outside papers have finally realized where Ypsilanti is and that Ypsilanti is truly a center of cage power to be reckoned with. Three recent "goofs" by a Detroit paper caused more than one chuckle among the Press' sports writers who have spent hundreds of hours and devoted thousands of lines of type to covering the Braves this season.

One item concerned a Detroit school's opponent that night in regional eliminations — the day after the school had been beaten by Ypsilanti St. John's. A more recent item said Coach Ouellette would need some aspirin after his team lost that night to East Lansing (but they beat them in a fine game).

And after the Braves disposed of East Lansing, a Detroit paper suddenly termed Ypsi High one of the semi-finalist teams "with Detroit ties" — everyone loves a winner!

Which all points up that the local teams are duly appreciated and proclaimed on a regular basis in their own paper here. When they reach the heights, outsiders continue to shun them — similar to the complaint that news media "only play up the bad things kids do, never the good things."

We've been behind the Braves — and all the other local teams — every step of the way. They deserve a real hats-off salute from the entire community.

As the bumper stickers which appeared suddenly here proclaim, the never-say-die Ypsilanti High Braves are "1st with us".

Labor report

Labor backs Democrats, As Meany courts Nixon

By VICTOR RIESEL

WASHINGTON — A few months ago, no one would have foreseen or believed it. But 10 days ago George Meany, labor's one-man high command, left the White House Oval Room beaming as though his old friend Lyndon Johnson still lived there.

But the neutral neutrality of labor's chief of chiefs is not rubbing off on labor's political strategists.

On the other side of the political street, labor's activists are helping Sen. Fred Harris, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, reform, restructure and revive the party of Johnson, Humphrey and Kennedy.

Sen. Harris has had six or seven meetings with his Senate and House campaign committees. Together they have scheduled a long series of state-by-state meetings. At every stop, says Sen. Harris, he has "consulted with" top labor leaders. Three of these state sessions have been held. Governors, senators, representatives, state chairmen and labor leaders have participated — speaking, planning, structuring campaigns to defeat the Republicans in 1969 and '70 — first things first.

Sen. Harris has met with the always intense Al Barkan, director of the AFL-CIO's coast to coast Committee on Political Education (COPE). They've talked money, manpower, strategy and registration.

There have been regular conferences with the steelworkers president, I.W. (Abe) Abel, who is on the party's Reform Commission. And always there is contact with the quiet, laconic but utterly professional electrical brotherhood's national secretary, Joe Keenan.

Despite their former and present alliances, for the most part, these are unions which would not be up tight on Democratic Party politics, and would turn it off if Mr. Meany gave the sign. So this gets more and more curious. Since December, for example, Hubert Humphrey has spoken to and been cheered by thousands of unionists, all the way from California's grape pickers to

New York's needle workers. At banquet after banquet, "the professor" has told them that they carried the "brunt" of his campaign. And toastmasters have told him they're with him on the road back to Pennsylvania Ave.

Certainly Mr. Nixon's professionals at the White House and over at the Republican National Committee, now launching their own big city-labor-national campaign, are aware of the Democratic Party build-up with labor's support. And certainly one White House visit doesn't make an alliance.

But there is an inherent contradiction here. It does not seem possible that, after Mr. Meany's extremely friendly visit, the Democratic-labor-liberal coalition can ever again campaign against Mr. Nixon on the old devil theory. Thus the labor leaders may be weakening their political weaponry. This is a calculated risk. It may be worth it.

And Mr. Nixon? What can he lose? His conservative friends, of course. But that's a calculated risk he's taking.

An Editor's Outlook

Conglomerates aided and regretted

In 1955, 49 per cent of the manufacturing assets of the United States were owned by 200 leading corporations. At the end of 1967, the figure was 59 per cent. Since then the "conglomerate" trend, that is the expansion by super-corporations into fields utterly unrelated to the commodities or services they originally produced, has intensified.

Some economists fear that 10 years from now nearly three-quarters of the industrial production of the nation will be in the hands of the 200, to say nothing of the banks, insurance companies and service institutions which will have also fallen under their control.

The Nixon Administration's chief trust-buster, Richard W. McLaren, echoes this fear of "undue economic concentration." Existing antitrust laws, he points out, can dampen mergers toward market extension (the acquisition of firms making the same product in a different geographic area) and reciprocity (merging firms that can do important business favors for each other).

But the courts have not tested pure conglomerates, and many legislators believe that new laws are needed.

It is easy to conjure up the old Populist image of the wolves of Wall Street — greedy gnomes of finance seeking to control the nation. But it might be fair to point out the culpability of government itself in producing the conglomerate rush.

Take the case of railroads where both major lines, like Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Santa Fe and Illinois Central, and minor lines, like Reading and Bangor and Aroostook, have started grabbing for companies totally unrelated to transportation.

Railroading profits, dollar-wise, have generally been stagnant for 10 years. In purchasing power they have substantially declined. The national railway system shows little prospect of regaining earnings comparable to other industries without sweeping mergers among the lines, but the Interstate Commerce Commission has moved like a tortoise and the courts have hobbled the tortoise.

There is little wonder, therefore, that resentful railroad stockholders, blocked at rail mergers, would pressure managements to merge with anything that would produce a better earnings base.

Then there's inflation. The progressive cheapening of the dollar brought about by politicians who have found it pleasant to spend more than they tax has pushed mergers by causing money to take refuge in equities rather than in bonds or cash.

A dollar that is headed in the direction of a dime is a poor thing to hold. It is better to put it into land, even if overpriced by sound-dollar standards, or common stocks, even if price-earnings ratios seem high.

Compounding this pressure is the matter of taxation. The Bureau of Internal Revenue impels mergers even while the Department of Justice resists them. Closely held companies, the stockholders of which are already in high-income tax brackets, confer thin favors by paying dividends.

Surplus funds cannot be held indefinitely without running afoul of IRS penalties against excessive retention of earnings. So what must such a company do? It must reduce its surplus by acquiring another company or sell out and give its stockholders the benefit of capital gains.

It's really pretty crazy — government forcing mergers by tax policy with one hand and battling them with the other.

But the menace of the conglomerate remains, even if the motives for creating conglomerates are perfectly understandable. The concentration of America's productive capacity in the hands of a small number of mammoth corporations is not the way to run free enterprise.

The basic problem, however, is not rapacity of business, but the dishonesty of a government philosophy that steadily debases its currency, imposes tax penalties on the independent who hangs on and holds out tax incentives for gobbling one's neighbor or selling out.

If we're going to call out the fire wagons, let's quit pouring gasoline on the fire.

Reader accepts 'vicious circle'

TO THE EDITOR:

In response to Elizabeth's letter or any other teacher's wife: I, too, am tired of complaints about new taxes, but I pay them willingly because as she said, education for all is necessary and important.

I am also very tired of complaints about teachers' low salaries — $7500 net pay for nine months work would be $833 per month or $208 weekly. The same yearly wage of $7500 is passable after some seniority and 12 months of work per year in a factory.

A teacher could supplement his pay by working summers for two months in a factory and still have a month's vacation.

Money is paid by teachers into a teacher retirement fund — also into Social Security which is available at retirement age, actually a savings each year.

Living costs are now geared to two salaries per family, whether we approve or not. Both parents must share the financial responsibility of a home. It is a vicious circle — high wages and high living costs to balance the wheel of fortune or misfortune.

'You better stay in school'

TO THE EDITOR:

To Elizabeth: We all would like higher wages or a lower cost of living in this world. My husband has worked for Fisher Body for seven years. Only one of these years was his income over $7500.

To receive this amount he had to work eight hours a day, five days a week. He gets two 18-minute breaks and 20 minutes for lunch. His work time is spent on his feet in one spot every day. He always has someone over him telling him what to do, when to do it and why he has to do it. He would love to work nine months a year with a guaranteed income of $7500 with two weeks off for Christmas vacation, a week off for spring vacation, 100 paid sick days instead of five and without the need of an excuse from the doctor for a two-day sick leave.

Every teacher I have seen has the right to sit down or leave the room without permission any time they wish. You and your husband had better stay in school!

I would go on and on, but what is the use — our taxes will rise regardless.

'Person must be judged by his past'

TO THE EDITOR:

Dear Mr. Robert L. Jones, director of the Neighborhood Action Center: I am one of the 'Concerned Residents' you refer to as a "frightened kid who disturbs and interferes with things which have happened in the past — wake the dead — then run and hide and not to be identified". To disprove your illustrious description, I am informing you that my name is Dennis B. Snarey.

Now let me discuss the points you have used to defend the appointment of "a woman" as a community aide to your center.

You claim she was chosen because of her ability to create and organize and her unusually good leadership (which she proved last fall peacefully). Why did you not mention the 'last fall' incident was leading the ADC protest in Ann Arbor? Secondly, you say peacefully. Were not she and others arrested for trespassing? Your definition of peacefully must be different than mine.

You tell me you are going to state the 'true facts.' If this is so, how can you call concerned residents like me those who strive only to make the poor poorer and the weak weaker? Maybe someone should explain the difference between fact and opinion to you.

Mr. Jones, you deal with the 'natural facts.' Specifically, will you tell me what she has done as community aide for the OEO? Also, you refer to the 'real concerned citizens.' Who are these people? Every person that has feelings towards the matter must be considered a real concerned citizen.

I would also like to say I still question this woman's appointment. She has been convicted for passing bad checks. This alone should be proof enough that she cannot be trusted to such a position.

One more point, Mr. Jones — a person can only be judged by his past, as one can only guess about what lies in the future.

Dennis B. Snarey

Laird confident of case For Nixon ABM plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has emerged from Senate grilling with the image of a cool, shaken conviction he can win the White House case for a revised missile defense system.

But the question of who—if anyone—came out ahead in the administration's first Capitol Hill presentation of arguments for a Safeguard antiballistic missile (ABM) system remains to be seen. Laird wound up three days of testimony Friday with a 5½-hour nationally televised appearance before the Senate disarmament subcommittee, a focal point of Senate ABM opposition.

And as expected, the criticism came fast and sharp, accompanied by cheers for the senators and laughter for Laird from the largely student audience that crowded into the cavernous Senate caucus room.

"Far less of a shield than a sieve," said Democrat Frank Church of Idaho of the $7-billion system President Nixon wants to deploy at 12 sites to protect the nation's deterrent missile and bomber force.

"Not a convincing case,"

said Chairman Albert Gore,

D-Tenn.

"Every witness outside the Pentagon knows it's not much good," said Arkansas' J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the parent Foreign Relations Committee.

"Cockeyed," was the comment Democrat Stuart Symington of Missouri had for a chart Laird showed.

It was the only chart of several that Laird got to show, although he kept trying throughout the day to have his deputy, David Packard, give the same visual-aid rundown that had gone over so well Wednesday and Thursday with the far friendlier Armed Services Committee.

"There are a few things we want to get to first," Gore told the defense chief. But they never did get around to the charts and Gore said Packard could come before the committee with them next Wednesday.

Through it all, Laird smiled often, answering with methodical, well-formed sentences that struck a balance between the metallic, statistic-filled testimony of former Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and the dogged repetition of policy that former Secretary of State Dean Rusk displayed.

"The Soviets are going for a first-strike capability that can only be aimed at destroying our retaliatory force," said Laird.

"This is a deadly serious question," he said at another point when Fulbright made a quip that brought laughter. "As secretary of defense I would take a great pride and satisfaction in presiding over the elimination of arms building—if we are successful in future arms control talks." The Safeguard, he added, "is not an escalation of the arms race."

Although outwardly cool, Laird did remark that as a former congressman, he recalled it was easier to ask questions than to answer them.

After the administration's first face-to-face confrontation with Safeguard critics in the Senate, there was no immediate evidence either side gained any converts.

Dem professor named Acting MSU president

EAST LANSING (AP) — A cigar-smoking economics professor who contends administering "simply isn't my bag" will take on the job of acting president of Michigan State University April 1.

Dr. Walter Adams, 46, a Democrat, was named to the post Friday by a 5-3 party-line vote of the Democratic controlled Board of Trustees. Republicans tried to name MSU Provost Howard Neville, but their motion was turned out of order.

Adams succeeds Dr. John A. Hannah, who, after 28 years in the top MSU spot, was granted terminal leave at the end of, this month. A year's salary, $40,000, is to be paid into Hannah's pension account.

Hannah is awaiting U.S. Senate confirmation of his appointment as director of the Agency for International Development (AID).

Adams, a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Brooklyn College and Yale University, has been on the MSU faculty since 1947. He describes himself as a Democrat who holds "such illustrious party posts as precinct delegate to the county convention."

He is to serve at the discretion of the MSU board.

"The shorter the duration of my service (as president), the more delighted I will be," Adams told a news conference after the announcement of his appointment. "I'm a professor, not a professional administrator.

"Under no circumstances should I be considered a candidate for the presidency he added.

"If selected, I would not serve."

Asked why he accepted the appointment, Adams said:

"I think there is an opportunity for service here. It is important to make the point that a rank-and-file member of the faculty can perform this function for a limited period of time."

Adams said he hoped the search for a permanent successor to Hannah would be completed "within the next six months."

Board Chairman Don Stevens called Adams "one of the most popular teachers on campus" and said he "knows that this university must move in new directions if we are to meet the challenges of the remaining three decades of the 20th century."

"We want particularly to come to grips with the problems of urban America and the disadvantaged minorities," Stevens said. Adams "will get us started on meeting these problems" as the search for a president continues.

Adams said that as acting president he will "implement existing procedure" and — hopefully—continue teaching a senior-level economics course.

Nixon joins Protectors Of beaches

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon inspected remnants of a once-vast oil slick Friday and then, standing on a once-beautiful beach, got his shiny black oxfords dampened by an errant wave.

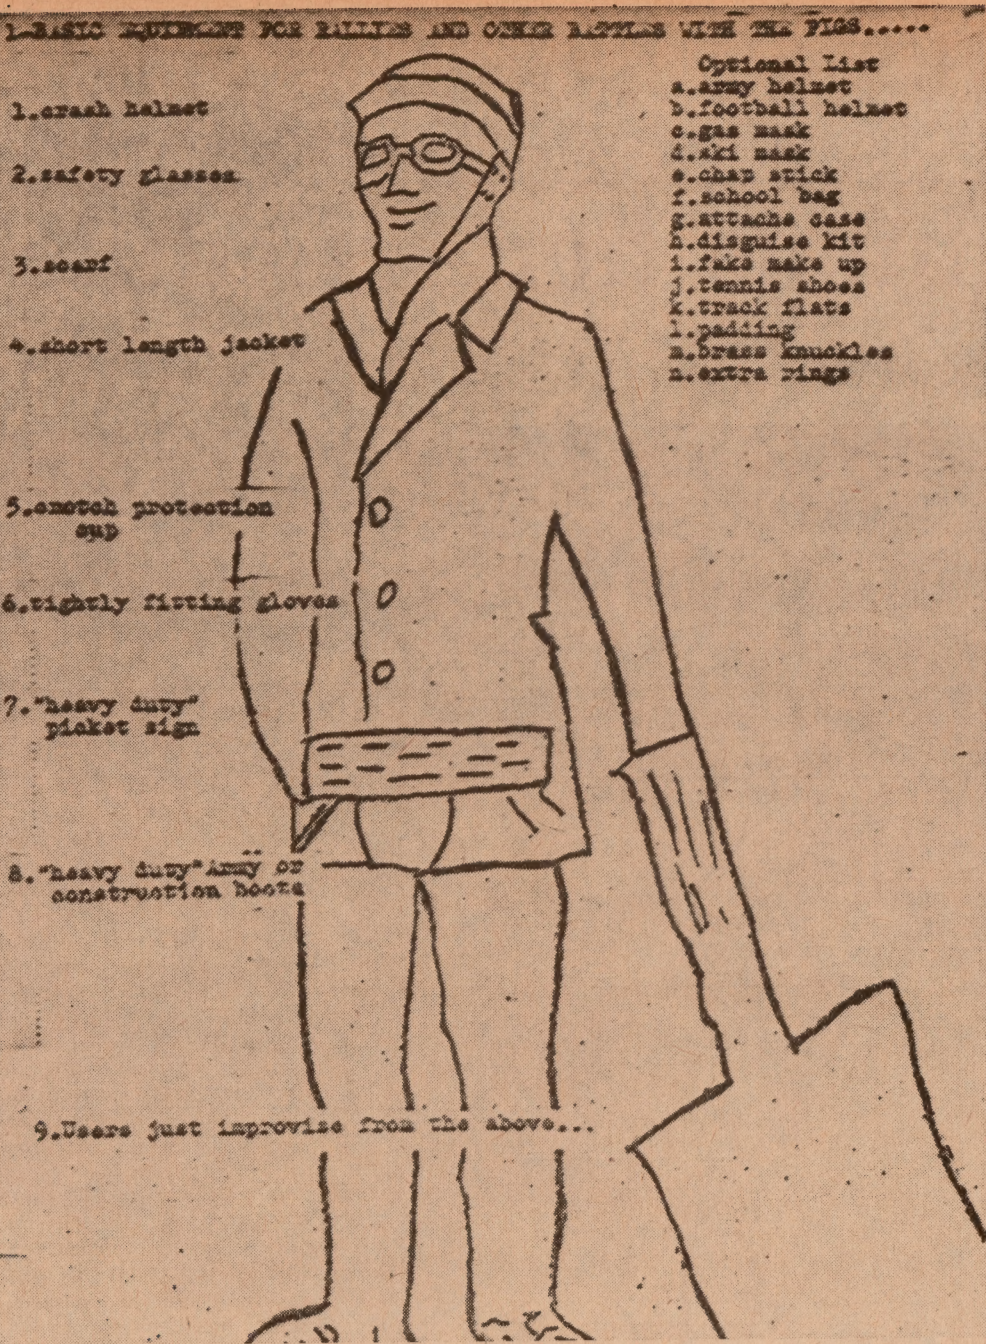

The President jumped back and exclaimed: "Now I know this is a beach."

Nixon, on a California visit, made a side trip to this city to inspect the area where a leaking undersea well caused an 800-square-mile slick last month and dirtied 30 miles of shoreline.

After his helicopter tour, standing on rain-dampened sand, he said: "This problem is bigger than just Santa Barbara. We need more effective control to protect our beauty and natural resources. I don't think we've paid enough attention to this."

Earlier, Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel barred new oil leasing on some 55,000 acres of the federal offshore area, and also issued stringent new petroleum regulations for the entire coast. Hickel said: "The program we are developing in response to the Santa Barbara tragedy will serve as a model for our future operations along the nation's entire coastline."

Nixon, a native Californian, told a crowd of several hundred that he visited "these beautiful beaches" as a boy and "I feel we must preserve these beaches ... preserving beaches is more important than economic considerations."

This drawing and a list of "basic equipment" were in a pamphlet which Philadelphia Police Commissioner Frank J. Rizzo said is being circulated among college students, giving them instructions on how to maul police and create chaos during campus disturbances. (AP Photo)

In campus disturbances:

Pamphlet tells the ways To disable, maim police

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "If you can't kill them, harass them."

That is one of the instructions in a pamphlet distributed to area college students on how to deal with police during campus disturbances ... complete with crudely drawn illustrations of how to make bombs.

It tells how a campus rioter can disable and maim police, police horses, photographers and even innocent onlookers during school disorders.

Frank L. Rizzo, city police commissioner, says the anonymously written six-page pamphlet, called "Your Manual," was distributed to 25 members of Students for a Democratic Society on the 18,000-student body campus of the University of Pennsylvania.

Along with copies went orders to circulate them widely, Rizzo said. A spokesman for SDS denied the organization has any connection with the booklet.

The booklet lists its publisher

2 named cherry Commissioners

LANSING (AP) — J. Russell Houk of rural Ludington has been named to the Michigan Cherry Commission by Gov. William G. Milliken.

The governor also reappointed Morris F. Amon of near Williamsburg and Frederick M. Pugsley of rural Paw Paw to the commission. Their terms expire Feb. 1, 1972. Amon has been a commission member since 1963, while Pugsley has served since 1966.

as the "3R News Service, Inc., San Francisco." No such firm is listed in the San Francisco telephone directory, however similar pamphlets with the firm also listed as publisher have appeared on the campus of San Francisco State College.

It prompts agitators to throw first at police cameramen to eliminate pictures of ensuing clashes.

The manual, Vol. 1, No. 1, gives other details on possible weapons and how to use them.

"If we are to free ourselves, we must out of necessity, strike at them as violently as they have struck at us," a preface says.

"It's terrible and outrageous," said Rizzo.

He said no attempt is being made to confiscate copies, but added he is taking steps to see whether any violation of city statute is involved in circulation.

A spokesman for the University of Pennsylvania said the pamphlet would not be banned because this would not "effectively curtail its distribution."

The initial issue promises in subsequent editions to highlight a revolutionary leader of the month, publish an assassination list, detail how to make napalm bombs and print a primer on riot logistics.

First Lady tightens her schedule

Moving, term start Coming next week

By DOROTHY ZACK
Press Women's Editor

Life is speeding up for Mrs. William Milliken, and next week looks like one of the busiest since her husband became Michigan's governor.

The First Lady confided some of her scheduling problems when she was interviewed previously to her talk at the Huron Motor Inn for over 100 Jaycees and their wives Thursday evening.

On Monday, she may be registering for a new term in landscape architecture, a topic she is taking as her frequent choice of speech topic, and a field in which she has a dream of actually working.

But being a state's First Lady takes time; she may not continue study for the time being.

On Tuesday, it's moving day. The family is finally moving into the home which is assessed at $400,000 that the state has acquired as a governor's mansion. "It's just three bedrooms, she confides, which may be a problem when they have guests." But even though it's only three bedrooms, it is spacious enough to require a housekeeping staff. The staff has been hired by the state under a new salary agreement completed this year.

"It's a very accelerated pace," she says, on being asked about life since Gov. Milliken's taking his post. "Organization suddenly has become the most important thing, and I'm having to establish priority on how I spent my time."

The spring break at Michigan State University, where she is taking her four-credit landscape "drawing board" course, found Mrs. Milliken going west. She spent last week at Aspen, Colo., with members of her family — she has two sisters and a brother in the Denver area and grew up there. She enjoys skiing immensely, she says, and so does her husband. Asked what her favorite ski resort is with the thought her home town of Traverse City or one within a 30-mile area might be her choice, she answered, "Aspen." She has skied there since it was opened in 1948.

The landscaping at her new home was done by her professor at MSU, she says. Her landscaping interest was evident as she arrived at the press party at the Geddes Rd. home of Mrs. Veda Anderson, looking at the shrubs lining the driveways and hillsides down to the river.

Wearing a white brocade jacket dress and looking tanned from being in Aspen's sun, Mrs. Milliken chatted informally with her hostess and Dr. Richard Robb, both Governor Romney's appointees to the Eastern Michigan University Board of Regents. Then she made the acquaintance of Mrs. John Harrison, whose father, N. G. Damoose, she had known in Traverse City when he was city manager there, shortly after his tenure in that post in Ypsilanti. During her talk later, she commented that Mr. Damoose had brought about development of the

Traverse City with its landscaping and parkways.

Her talk on a "More Beautiful Michigan" hit at the litter problem, and cited the 34-cent cost of picking up each item that is cast at the roadside.

She urged Jaycees to take up anti-litter and beautification as a project.

Her main theme was "The New Conservation," emphasizing rather than just preserving natural resources, and because of the speed of change, the importance of man made environment.

"It is up to the concerned citizen and community organizations to stimulate results so that there is beauty in man made landscapes," she said. Businessmen are becoming aware that such beauty is good business, she said.

The urban landscape is the product of thousands of personal decisions, she pointed out, saying she considered beauty as important as efficiency for daily life.

Michigan's beauty is directly connected with its economy because of the tourist business, she noted.

Billboards that can obscure the natural landscape, were criticized, and also pollution of Lake Erie.

"It's up to each person in a country to be a committee of one in the goal of making beauty available to all," she said.

WCC planning First pageant

The first "Miss Washtenaw Community College" will be chosen on next Saturday in the college's first beauty pageant.

The pageant is slated at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the Willow Run High School Auditorium.

The winner of the Miss WCC pageant will be entered in the Miss Michigan Junior College beauty pageant at Grand Rapids on May 1.

The contestants who will be competing for the Miss WCC title are Emily Apap, Elaine Arbour, Miriam Hyde, Sandra Knoll, Gail Stenning and Dinah Stone.

The pageant will be judged on poise, personality, intelligence, charm and beauty. Each contestant will be required to model a bathing suit, ball gown and a leisure dress.

Also each contestant will be required to display a talent for a three minute period.

HELOISE'S HINTS

Wax waterproofs scarf

By HELOISE CRUSE

DEAR HELOISE: When it's rainy out, have you ever wished that your scarves were waterproof? So often we don't have a rain bonnet handy, or would just rather wear a scarf because it is warmer.

Here's my solution:

I put an old scarf between two pieces of wax paper. Then I ironed it with the iron set on medium heat.

You'll be surprised at the results.

It actually makes the scarf waterproof and spot-resistant. You'll find that the water beads up and rolls right off.

Lisa

Don't try it on your best scarf, gals. Wax paper might streak some material. Test it on a tiny piece of the corner first. Heloise

DEAR HELOISE: I have an idea to pass on to the gals. Don't ever discard a baby-walker when the seat breaks through.

With a bag made of any sturdy material attached to the frame, it can become a caddy for knitting, toys, even cleaning supplies. Or with a top made of plywood, it can become a portable table for patio, playroom or laundry. Mrs. D.J.

DEAR HELOISE: While helping a friend get ready to go to the hospital, I looked around for a small carton to hold her toilet articles. The only thing I could find was a cardboard carrier for soft drinks.

When I went to visit her, I took some adhesive-backed paper and covered the outside of the carton, then cut out two flower pictures from her "Get Well" cards and pasted one on each side.

Since there are six sections, it held her toothbrush and toothpaste, hand lotion, her pen and pencil, toilet water, bath oil and soap.

She said it was the best present she ever had. She set it on her bedside table and could easily find anything she needed without having to dig around in the drawer or call the nurse.

The nurses were delighted with it and were continually borrowing it to show to other patients.

Now I keep several on hand to give as gifts. A yard of adhesive-backed paper will cover two cartons. Mrs. J. M. S.

DEAR HELOISE: When putting slip-covers on your living room furniture, use your rubber mixing bowl spatula to tuck the extra material between the sofa and side frames of the sofa or chair.

By doing this you can tuck the fabric in tightly without damaging it or your fingernails, and also you get the job done as quick as a breeze! Mrs. Marilyn Fucello

DEAR HELOISE: The gallon jugs that milk comes in have tops that never last until we finish the milk.

My solution to this problem is the top of my quart thermos bottle.

It snaps right on and makes a perfect stopper. Alynne Maples

DEAR ABBY:

Daughter feels threat Of losing mom's love

By GABRIEL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have been a widow for three years and have two teen-aged children. A daughter and a son.

A few months ago my husband's best friend whose wife passed away last year started calling on me. We've known each other for 25 years and have the deepest respect for one another. We enjoy each other's company and it's so good to have someone to be with after all this time. (Yes, it could be "love.")

My problem is my 16-year-old daughter. She treats me disgracefully and insults me each time he calls. She has even given me an ultimatum, "If you really love me, you won't see him again."

Abby, I love my daughter, but I don't want to quit seeing this man. My son adores him. How can I convince my daughter that this is a respectful form of companionship? I've talked to her for hours but can't get through to her. She won't let our minister talk to her either. Maybe she'll listen to you. Trying Hard

DEAR TRYING: Your daughter is angry and jealous because she feels she is "losing" her mother, after having recently lost her father. But that should not rule the course of your life, and you must not let it. Quit trying to explain your "feelings" to your daughter. Ask the family doctor to explain the facts of life to her. The girl needs help in understanding, but her problem should not be allowed to blight your own happiness.

DEAR ABBY: I have been living in an empty marriage for many years. We put on a good show, but are strangers who cannot even discuss our problems with each other, so we keep very busy, each with our separate lives.

For some time I have been thinking of making a break, hoping to find a truly meaningful relationship. Am I crazy for considering giving up possessions and a comfortable place in society? Unfulfilled

DEAR UNFULFILLED: When the chips are down, each one of us must decide for himself what is worth how much. Only you can answer your question.

DEAR SUCKER: We have both been married twice before and each have children. He claims he loves me, but this is not the right time to get married. When I ask him when will the time be right, he says he doesn't know, but this isn't it.

I help him with his part-time work, and I have carried a hot lunch to him five days a week for three years. Plus I do up his laundry and give him supper at my place every evening and he has all his meals here with me on weekends. I go to his place to help with the housework since his 17-year-old daughter is too lazy to do anything. Besides this I take care of my own house and work nights. I average four hours sleep a night.

I love him dearly and we get along fine. We spend so much time together lots of people think we ARE married. So why doesn't he marry me? Sucker

DEAR SUCKER: Why should he? He's getting the whole show for the price of the amusement tax.

TEEN DATE-LINE

By ELE and WALT DULANEY

Dear Ele and Walt: Yesterday, I was at this girl's house and, when the girls were gone, I told this joke to a bunch of the guys. It was a dirty but funny joke. Anyhow, just as I reached the punch line, the girl's mother came around the corner with a glint in her eye. I didn't want to seem like a big phony or like I was trying to get away with something, so I finished the joke. The punchline was not obscene.

Now I'm wondering if that was best, and should I have apologized then to the mother or what? I am sure she heard it all. — Joker

Dear Joker: Since the punchline was not obscene, we'd say you were wise to complete the joke. It actually saved the mom the embarrassment of having all eyes swivel to her as "intruder" which would have happened, if you'd choked off in midrecital.

It would have been wise to pursue the woman then and offer a private apology but, since you didn't, it's not too late for a note: "Dear Mrs. Lane, I'm sorry to have used your living room to tell a locker-room story. It wasn't good manners. Please believe I've learned my lesson and won't abuse your hospitality that way again." — Ele and Walt Julia Grant, wife of President U.S. Grant, was the first presidential wife to invite the wives of cabinet members to join in serving as hostesses at official receptions.

DR. BROTHERS:

Sleep is a dreamy, Yet difficult subject

By DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

Sleep! Poets have written about it, lovers have moaned about it, scientists have studied it, and almost all of us have longed for more of it on those mornings when we have to rise and shine. How much do you know about it? Here's your chance to find out.

1. Sleep, at the proper time and place, is an example of a process that is determined solely by one's biological needs. TRUE — FALSE

2. Insomnia may be due to fear. TRUE — FALSE

3. Sleep and nighttime generally are considered to have a special function in terms of creativity and innovation. TRUE — FALSE

4. All societies have at least one point of agreement — that the world we experience in our waking life is the real one, while the world of dreams is unreal and irrational. TRUE — FALSE

5. One of the reasons we wear night clothes is to help allay our fears. TRUE — FALSE

6. A person's residence is usually determined by where he sleeps because when censuses were first taken the home was also the place of work. TRUE — FALSE

7. Our deepest sleep usually comes in the morning just before the alarm is ready to ring. TRUE — FALSE

8. When people sleep more than eight hours, it is usually because they have a deep physiological need for it. TRUE — FALSE

ANSWERS

1. FALSE. The reluctance of children to go off to bed is one of many ways of showing that sleep is not a process determined by biological needs alone. Going to sleep involves going through a number of culturally defined motions, such as, changing to the proper clothes, arranging lights, windows, our own posture, closing one's eyes even in darkness, and expressing certain emotions and attitudes toward each other.

2. TRUE. Often, those who suffer from insomnia have great conflicts about falling asleep. They often fear death or not awakening, or they may fear the separation from the every day world; they may fear loneliness, helplessness or passivity, or the fear of insomnia itself may prevent sleep.

3. TRUE. With sleep goes irresponsibility for perception and action, in our culture, and this gives sleep a special function in relation to innovation and creativity. Many artists and scientists claim to be able to work better at night and some feel they get creative ideas during their sleep, thus the expression: "I'll sleep on it." Sleep, in our culture, is also related to sex and its own special creativity.

4. FALSE. According to studies, several nonliterate cultures feel that our dream world is the world of reality and the waking world is actually the unreal one. We deny the responsibility of sleep life, but in some societies, people can be punished, even killed for what they dream.

5. TRUE. Night clothes, bedding, approved postures of sleep, may all be viewed as reassuring ritual patterns, called forth by our latent fears which might be aroused by sleep.

6. FALSE. A person's residence identifies the person with a definite spatial location: a person "lives" where he sleeps. This concept came about primarily because of the relations between sex and sleep; the family centers about the residence and sexual unions tend to be restricted to the family group or husband and wife.

7. FALSE. Studies show that our deepest sleep usually comes soon after we have initially fallen asleep. This deep sleep usually continues for several hours, with the remainder of the night interspersed with periods of moderately deep and light periods of sleep, and a rather lingering process of returning to consciousness in the morning hours.

8. FALSE. According to a number of different studies, it would appear that psychological reasons are more important than physiological reasons for individual's sleeping beyond the eight-hour period. Sleep prevents conflicts and certain kinds of competition, and extra sleep may be a way to avoid what we do not wish to face during our waking hours. Simple boredom may also help to explain why many of us sleep more than we actually need.

Anguilla will now get Royal engineers

ANGUILLA (AP) — Royal engineers are on their way to Anguilla to replace Britain's sun-burned Red Devils and try to save face for the Union Jack.

The Defense Ministry announced Friday night an advance party of engineers would arrive today to decide what projects might best serve the tiny Caribbean island's 6,000 inhabitants and perhaps quell the mockery raised by Britain's Bay of Pigs invasion there Wednesday.

Improvement of the partially-paved airstrip and installation of a telephone system will begin when a reinforced troop of about 100 engineers arrive within a week or so, the ministry said.

The frigate Rothesay, used to land the British invasion force Wednesday morning, is to depart during the weekend, followed later by the two companies of Red Devil paratroopers who came ashore to reassert the crown's authority over the Anguillans.

Milliken honors Polish bowlers

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has proclaimed April 18-20 and April 25-27 as Polish National Alliance Bowling Tournament days in Michigan.

Events on the island indicated Britain plans to maintain Her Majesty's grip on Anguilla.

Secessionist Acting President Ronald Webster was barred from his office in the island's administration building. British Commissioner Anthony Lee moved his papers and headquarters into the building and said he would govern the island with the aid of an advisory board of Anguillans, for several years if necessary.

British cargo planes shuttled back and forth Friday, bringing military supplies and squad cars for a contingent of 40 London Bobbies who have replaced the local police.

Adding its voice to a chorus of foreign and domestic criticism heaped on Prime Minister Harold Wilson's government after the invasion, the U.N. Special Committee on Colonialism pronounced itself "gravely concerned" by the British occupation and resolved to send a team of investigators to Anguilla.

Britain which boycotted the committee's meeting Friday, was expected to bar the team from the island.

Recently opened segments of the Interstate Highway System make possible a 25-hour, signal-free trip between Philadelphia and North Platte, Neb. It's the longest completed stretch of the super highway network.

Hatcher On tenure Board

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken Friday appointed Dr. Harlan Hatcher, former president of the University of Michigan, and Dr. Waldo Cain, past president of the Detroit Medical Society, as public members of the State Judicial Tenure Commission.

The appointments complete membership on the nine-member commission, which has powers to recommend to the State Supreme Court the censure, suspension or removal of judges failing to properly perform their duties.

"These distinguished and highly respected men are eminently qualified to serve as lay members of this sensitive and important commission," Milliken commented.

Hatcher, 70, was named for a term expiring Dec. 31, 1971. Cain, 47, will serve for a term expiring Dec. 31, 1972. Senate confirmation is not required.

Laff-a-day

"Gee, that's a shame, Frank... I thought you had stumbled onto a dandy new spot remover."

After heart failure:

Doctors say Ike's Strength is down

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army doctors, revealing for the first time that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower suffered serious temporary congestive heart failure one week ago, say "he may well have less reserve strength than previously."

The physicians acknowledged Friday they were more concerned than ever about the chronic heart condition of the 78-year-old general who is recovering from intestinal surgery.

Despite this concern, a medical bulletin late Friday from Walter Reed General Hospital said "the general's condition today is favorable... he is resting comfortably and his spirits are good."

Word of the congestive heart failure episode came in response to questions as a result of off-the-cuff remarks by Mrs. Eisenhower and a little-noticed Wednesday medical bulletin from the hospital.

Mrs. Eisenhower commented at a fashion show that her husband has "good days and bad" and that last Saturday was a particularly bad one. It was so bad, she said, that "I didn't take my clothes off for 30 hours," while keeping watch near the general's bedside at the hospital.

The medical bulletin, issued after President Nixon had visited Eisenhower for 20 minutes, said the former president has recovered from the immediate effects of Feb. 23 surgery for a gastrointestinal obstruction. But it also said Eisenhower "continues to be weak and his cardiovascular status remains a matter of concern to his physicians."

Mrs. Eisenhower has been staying at the hospital virtually all the time since last May 14 when her husband was hospitalized to convalesce from a major heart attack suffered two weeks earlier in California. Since then he has suffered three more heart attacks and the intestinal obstruction that required emergency surgery.

It was against this background that the Associated Press submitted questions asking further details about the Saturday incident, and the "concern" voiced in the doctors' bulletin.

Congestive heart failure occurs when one or more chambers of the heart fail to empty adequately during the heart's pumping action. This can lead to an accumulation of fluids in blood vessels supplying the lungs, or other parts of the body, or both.

Chance incident led To Ferris disorder

LANSING (AP) — The president of Ferris State College told a legislative committee Friday that recent campus disorders were touched off by a chance incident and then became organized by a radical group.

Victor Spathelf, who has been a target of criticism by some legislators for the handling of the disorders earlier this month, testified before the House Committee on Colleges and Universities.

Spathelf said the trouble had been organized by the Interested Students Society (ISS), which he characterized as similar to Students for a Democratic Society, a self-styled radical group of the new left.

ISS leaders said during the disturbance the group had formed to mediate between whites and blacks on the racial-tense campus.

ISS leader Stan Pagonis told the committee in earlier testimony the group had been approached by SDS, but the radical group had been rebuffed.

The chance incident, Spathelf told the committee, was when a black student was "sprayed by an irritant kind of substance and there was some scuffling." Spathelf said the substance was a chemical spray called "Halt," used by mailmen to ward off pursuing dogs.

The Negro student was sprayed as he was escorting a date back to her dormitory.

That incident and a series of others in preceding days culminated in the occupation of Starr Auditorium by black students and the subsequent arrest of 263 students—all but a few of them black—when State Police broke into the building at the order of Gov. Milliken.

Several state legislators have since accused Spathelf of not being responsive to Negro students' requests for meetings.

Senate eyes tax relief On 'over 60' homes

LANSING (AP) — A bill to give tax relief to property owners over the age of 60 whose incomes are $6,000 a year or less was among 20 bills introduced Friday in the Senate.

The bill would permit property owners to file exemptions to keep from paying any additional millage or special assessments, or from an increase in assessed valuation, after the exemption was granted.

Under terms of the measure written by Sen. Roger Craig, D-Deerborn, persons eligible would have to file for the exemption each year within three months before the installment becomes due.

Craig also introduced a bill to head off police and firemen's strikes. The measure would permit the employer or employer to initiate binding arbitration proceedings within 60 days of submission of the dispute to mediation and fact finding.

The recommendations of the three-member arbitration panel would be binding on both parties.

Other bills introduced would: —Prohibit persons from operating motor vehicles on public beaches.

—Set minimum school board salaries at $25 per meeting.

—Permit arrested persons to be released on their own recognizance unless the court determines that no condition other than money bail will reasonably assure the defendant's appearance in court.

—Make it a misdemeanor to possess one or two marijuana cigarettes.

—Require semiannual inspection of school buses by State Police.

Life & Leisure: A guide for dedicated fun-lovers

What's at the movies tonight

GREETINGS: Anti-establishment satire loosely wound on the theme of three youths passing time until they receive the inevitable "greetings" from their friendly draft board. Ranging from blackest comedy to sheer hilarity, the film is no less meaningful for the fact that it is also superbly entertaining. (X)—Fifth Forum

THE FIREMEN'S BALL: Originally a parable of Slavic bureaucracy in pre-Dubcek Czechoslovakia, Milos Forman's film has lived with continued relevance through three eras of Czech politics. Characterizing the party functionaries as firemen staging a ridiculous ball while a house burns to the ground, the film — initially witty satire, later broad comedy — finds its most haunting meaning in the current tragedy of Soviet occupation. — Campus.

THE HORSE IN THE GRAY FLANNEL SUIT: The usual magic which sparks a Walt Disney film is missing in this agonizingly overextended story of a horse who triumphs both in the show ring and on Madison Avenue. On a double bill with a new "Winnie the Pooh" short, the second feature really carries the bill. (G)—Martha Washington, Milan

VALLEY OF THE DOLLS: Taken from the novel of the same name which probes the exual and other hangups of the pill-popping generation, the movie is just as bad as the former bestseller and ought to do just as well with a not-too-discriminating audience. — Ypsi-Ann, Willow and Algier's Drive-ins.

BARBARELLA: Jane Fonda plays a futuristic space traveler in a film with as little substance as its star's scanty wardrobe. — Wayne Drive-In.

2001: A SPACE ODYSSEY: Spectacular cinema effects have made Stanley Kubrick's futuristic epic one of the most well-deserved hits of the season. The relative absence of dialogue and narrative only increases the visual magnificence of a film which challenges all the unique possibilities of the film media. — Quo Vadis

CHARLY: Sensitive story of a mentally-retarded man given a second chance by a miraculous brain operation, and eventually plunged back into darkness when the new advance proves temporary. An easy candidate for embarrassing paths, the film is saved by dedicated low-key direction and Cliff Robertson's almost loving portrayal of the ill-fated hero. (G) — La Parisien, Michigan

BULLITT: Director Peter Yates has taken two movie clichés—the grimly honest cop in a corrupt world and one-dimensional "star" Steve McQueen — and made them both work. Artistically and technically superior; a cinema triumph. (M) — State-Wayne, Quo Vadis Penthouse I

I LOVE YOU, ALICE B. TOKLAS: Establishment man Peter Sellers samples some update brownies and follows his modern Alice B. into the hippie underworld. Rather crude and slapstick, but it's a Seller's market! — Wayne Drive-In.

PLANET OF THE APES: Human space travelers find themselves in a world turned upside down in which apes rule and humanoid beings are hunted as quarry. Plenty of room for either good satire or not-so-good slapstick; the filmmakers chose the low road. — Ypsi-Ann, Willow and Algier's Drive-ins.

THE NIGHT OF THE FOLLOWING DAY: Marlon Brando has once again found a film worthy of his talents in Hubert Cornfield's chilling study of the pathology underlying the kidnapping of a young girl. Psychological acuity is matched by technical brilliance in a film which ranks among the best thrillers in recent memory. — Quo Vadis Penthouse II.

THUNDERBALL — FROM RUSSIA WITH LOVE: It's hard to remember which film is about what, but James Bond fans won't worry about it as their hero fights off everything from man-eating sharks to similarly carnivorous female spies in a double-bill of two of his best film outings. — State.

ROMEO AND JULIET: Director Franco Zeffirelli's contemporary retelling casts two real teen-agers in the roles of the adolescent lovers. The dramatic poetry of Shakespeare's lines is somewhat obscured, but the freshness and immediacy of this down-key version more than compensate for the loss. In Zeffirelli's hands, the play becomes one of character, and the transformation is as exciting emotionally as it is intellectually. (G)—Fox Village

THE BROTHERHOOD: Focusing on the members of a single family, the film tells the epic story of the Mafia contrasting the crude racketeering of the old days with the 'respectable' business enterprises which mask the modern underground. The film bogs down a bit in perverse nostalgia, but on the whole, it is chillingly effective in its realism. — Wayne Drive-In.

THE DETECTIVE: Frank Sinatra stars in this graphic representation of the criminal subculture of the city. The story itself is unremarkable, dealing far too superficially with many of the critical issues it touches upon. What is exceptional is that the movie attempts to break with the age-old stereotypes of honor-bright policemen and rotten-to-the-core criminals. If only for its effort at honesty, the film is worth consideration. — State-Wayne.

ANGRY BREED—THE VIOLENT ONES: Films that can be accused of anything but pretentiousness, this double-bill gives the 'bread and circus lovers a full measure of uncult action. Whatever turns you on... — University Drive-In.

SWISS FAMILY ROBINSON: One of Walt Disney's most spectacular adventure stories, the film recreates the classic about a family stranded on a deserted island and forced to make their home there. Technically and artistically up to the standards. (G) — Wayside PODUNK CENTER, IOWA, a one-acre hamlet of small-town fame, was recently offered up for sale in its entirety for $7,000. The offer brought numerous calls from 13 states, Bermuda and a San Diego Radio Station that wanted it for a quiz show. No offers have yet been accepted, however, and if you can compete with a real estate man who says he'll "top any offer," Podunk Center is still up for grabs.

Comedians Denise LaLonde and John LaBrecque add a humorous dimension to the Ice Capades of 1969, which will continue through the weekend at Olympia Stadium.

IN THE WAKE OF THE KON-TIKI: Eduard Ingris and his wife, Nina, left their native Czechoslovakia three months before the communist take-over to make two trips across the Pacific with three other men and a monkey in a raft. The story of that journey — from a 47-day battle with a whirlpool to shark fishing and the eventual arrival on a Polynesian isle — is a real-life adventure story to rival the best fictional accounts. Their illustrated lecture this evening sponsored by the Ypsi Lions Club is an event not to be missed. — Ypsilanti High School Auditorium, 210 W. Cross; 8:15 tonight; admission $1.25, students 75c

Our best to you...

U-M SYMPHONY BAND: William D. Revelli will lead the band in a free concert tomorrow in Hill Auditorium. Their program will range through classic and contemporary works for symphonic band, and will include pieces by Shostakovich, Grainger, De Nardis, Verdi, Wagner and Weinberger. The rousing finale will feature the famous American march "The Free Lance" by Sousa, and the no less stirring (if slightly less universal) "Michigan March" by Goldman. — U-M Hill Auditorium; Sunday at 3:30 p.m.; admission free.

Houghton station To remain open

WASHINGTON (AP) — Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans says a decision to close the weather station at Houghton Lake, Mich., has been reversed and it now will be kept open and given top priority for additional funds. A wave of protest was touched off by the U.S. Weather Bureau announcement that it planned to close the facility as part of an economy move.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS, Mich. (AP) — Ann Lois Davies and Willard Mitt Romney, younger son of former Michigan Gov. and Mrs. George Romney, were married late Friday in a civil ceremony at the home of the bride's family.

After the brief rites, read in the family room of the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Davies the couple were to fly today to Salt Lake City where a religious ceremony will be performed in the Mormon Tabernacle.

Family members present included Romney, secretary of Housing and Urban Affairs; his wife, Lenora; and their other son, Scott. The immediate families were to fly to Salt Lake City for the ceremony.

After a brief honeymoon, the newlyweds will resume their studies at Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah.

ROME (AP) — Marzio Ciano, grandson of the late dictator Benito Mussolini, was convicted Friday on a charge of stealing automobile license plates.

But the court granted Ciano amnesty, sparing him a jail term.

Ciano, 33, was a son of Edda Mussolini and Count Galeazzo Ciano, foreign minister in Mussolini's regime.

Police had charged Ciano with stealing and receiving stolen car plates for a stolen-auto ring.

The court, dropping those charges, convicted him of theft with no aggravating circumstances—thus allowing the amnesty.

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Prime Minister Jack Lynch announced Friday night that he and other top government officials are taking a 15 per cent pay cut effective April 1 and continuing to the end of the year.

The move was made, Lynch said, "to underline the seriousness of our present economic difficulties." Ireland has been running a severe foreign trade deficit.

Government officials came in for criticism last year when Parliament voted them big pay raises, and they were further criticized recently when the finance minister appealed to workers for restraint in demanding wage increases.

Goodwill march held

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — The public school situation here has taken a friendly turn that school officials in racially tense communities may want to copy.

In a demonstration of racial goodwill Friday, the 1,500 New Brunswick High School students accompanied by city and school officials linked arms and marched around the school singing.

The city's public schools have been the scene of racial unrest recently, and several schools were closed for a time to permit tempers to cool.

The march, planned in advance with sanction from city and school administration officials, was aimed at having "national implications," toward an end of racial demonstrations, School Supt. Morris Epps said. Negroes and whites sang "God Bless America."

The students said in a statement, "this demonstration is proof of the willingness of both black and white students to peacefully work out problems that have arisen."

Epps said "They couldn't have done things any better."

Theater

A LION IN WINTER: Original stage production of the now-popular film story about the political and familial intrigues which plague the court of Henry II. A behind-the-scenes look at would-be titans who are all too human. Produced by the University of Detroit Players under the direction of Alan Jorgenson. — Ford Life.

Sciences Bldg., U. of D.; 8:30 p.m. curtain; tickets $2

THE PHANTOM BELLS: Laura Rhodes and her new step-mother are only following Daddy's instructions, when they suddenly find themselves living in a house haunted by tinkling bells, mysterious footprints, seeming ghosts and the appearance of $50,000. Rosemary Kanitz and Joanne

Ost star in a dramatic thriller produced by the Senior class of Milan High School. — Milan High School, 920 North, Milan; 8 p.m. curtain; tickets $1.25, students 75c

MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING: Shakespeare's delightful comedy of errors is realized to the fullest in a new production by the Royal Shakespeare Company under the direction of Trevor Nunn. Alan Howard and Janet Suzman take the title roles as the reluctant lovers.—Fisher Theater, Detroit; 8:30 p.m. curtain; tickets from $3 to $6.50

IOLANTHE: Iolanthe is a fairy whose son has fallen in love with a mortal woman and decides to win her love in the political arena from his rival Lord Chancellor. What follows is a hilarious spoof of everything from politics to grand opera in one of Gilbert and Sullivan's best loved musicals. — U-M Gilbert and Sullivan Society production at Trueblood Theater, 105 S. State, Ann Arbor; 8 p.m. curtain, Saturday at 7 and 10 p.m.; tickets $2.50.

AMPHYTRION 38: Jean Giraudoux' "immortal" farce about the ribald god Jupiter's confrontation with the mating games of mortals. Under the direction of Douglas Seale.—Meadow Brook Theater, University of Oakland, Rochester; through April 13 with shows at 8:15 p.m., Sunday at 6:30 p.m.; tickets from $2 to $5 include pieces of several different styles and periods. — Pease Auditorium, E.M.U.; Sunday at 8 p.m.; admission free

ORCHESTRA MICHELANGELO DIFIRENZE: Now in its second sold-out American tour, the 17-piece Florentine ensemble will present the final Chamber Arts Series concert tomorrow at U-M. Their repertoire includes works by Frescobaldi, Corelli, Vivaldi, Barsanti and others. — U-M Rackham Auditorium, Ann Arbor; 8:30 p.m. concert tomorrow; tickets from $2 to $5

THE SEVERO BALLET COMPANY: will join the Detroit Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Valter Poole for a special Girl Scouts Concert tomorrow afternoon. The dance program will include Meyerbeer-Lambert's "Les Patineurs" Ballet and Shostakovich's "Madeline" Ballet. — Ford Auditorium, Detroit; tomorrow at 3:30 p.m.; tickets $2

Music

THE U-M SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA: Joins forces with the contemporary Directions ensemble to present a concert of contemporary music for orchestra this evening. Theo Alcantara, Jack Fortner and Sydney Hodkinson will conduct. — U-M Hill Auditorium, Ann Arbor; tonight at 8; admission free

ANTAL DORATI, recently named conductor of the Washington National Symphony, will appear as guest conductor with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra this evening. His program will include Haydn's Symphony No. 12, Mozart's Symphony No. 14 and the Shostakovich Symphony No. 10 — Ford Auditorium, Detroit; tonight at 8:30; tickets from $3 to $4.25

EMU FACULTY RECITAL: Joseph Gurt, an assistant professor at the university, will present a piano recital tomorrow in Pease Auditorium. His program will

Eli Wallach and Clark Gable find a temporary refuge from the outside world in a scene from "The Misfits," NBC's Saturday night movie at 9.

TV

THE MISFITS: A weak screenplay by Arthur Miller is given far more than its due in stunning performances by Marilyn Monroe, Clark Gable, Thelma Ritter and Eli Wallach in this harsh story of four people unable to strike the compromises necessary to survive in the modern society. Directed by John Huston. — Tonight at 9; Ch. 4

THE DIARY OF ANNE FRANK: The victim of a Nazi concentration camp, Anne Frank recorded in a powerfully moving diary the months of hiding and fear that led up to her family's eventual capture. Millie Perkins, Joseph Schildkraut and Shelley Winters star in a film which is as vital a human document as its original source. — 11:30 this evening; Ch. 2

CHINA TODAY AND TOMORROW: NBC News Special bringing together expert observers in a free-wheeling discussion of China's position in world politics. Tentative subjects include China's internal and international policies, her possible role in a settlement of the Vietnam War and alternatives to present U.S.-Chinese relations. — Sunday at 2:30 p.m.; in color on Ch. 4

SMOTHERS BROTHERS: Special concert in the round with guests Donovan, Peter Paul and Mary, Mort Saul and Jennifer, a member of the cast for the rock musical "Hair." Highlights include a final medley of all the performers' hit songs in which the audience is asked to participate. — 9 p.m. Sunday; in color on Ch. 2

MICKEY ONE: Arthur Penn's and Warren Beatty's precursor for "Bonnie and Clyde," is in many ways the equal of the later success. An incisive study of a night-club entertainer tormented by some kind of universal anger, the film is strengthened by technical innovation and stylistic complexities which make the movie avant-garde in the kindest sense of the word. — 9 p.m.; Ch. 7

Special

THE BLUE ANGEL: Cinema Guild presents the film that launched the Dietrich legend, a psychological study of a professor utterly submissive to the whims of a lovely singer. Also on the bill, a Laurel and Hardy Short "Angora Love." — U-M Architecture Auditorium, Ann Arbor; tonight and Sunday at 7 and 9:05 p.m.; admission 75c

THE TRIAL: Orson Welles' brilliant film adaptation of the original existential parable by Kafka. Anthony Perkins has never performed so well as in the character of K, a man desperately fighting for his life against the unstated charges of a ubiquitous "court." — Community Arts Auditorium, WSU, Detroit; 8:30 tonight; admission $1

U-M DANCE CONCERT: Varied program of works

choreographed by students and faculty in the Michigan Concert Dance Organization, ranging from interpretations of traditional pieces to a dance set against an electronic score. A matinee performance tomorrow will feature the Dance Workshop's production of Carl Orff's "Children's Suite." — U-M Barbour Gymnasium, Ann Arbor; performances tonight at 8 and tomorrow at 2:30 p.m.; tickets $2 and $1.50

MUSICAL YOUTH INTERNATIONAL: Made up of 100 young area vocalists and musicians, the group is part of a program aimed at establishing cultural exchanges between people in many countries. Their itinerary for the summer includes a tour of Japan and Canada, as well as the U.S. and their program for a special concert Sunday at the Ford Museum will offer a varied preview of tour selections. — Henry Ford Museum Theater, Greenfield Village, Dearborn; performance Sunday at 3 p.m.; included in standard museum admission of $2 for adults and $1 for children

THE CLANCY BROTHERS AND TOMMY MARKEN: The so-called "Minstrels of the Emerald Isle" will be appearing Sunday at Ford Auditorium in musical tribute to the season of St. Patrick. Although the group has achieved great popularity in city-folk circles, their songs and delivery sacrifice nothing to commercial demands, and they continue to sing Irish just the way everybody's Irish mother did. — Ford Auditorium, Detroit; concert Sunday at 8 p.m.; tickets from $2.50 to $5.50

Night life

BIMBOS: Original Old Thyme Saloon, replete with waiters in straw hats and red garters, peanut shells on the floor, and the "old thyme" sing-along music of Uncle Pat and the Gaslighters. Seven days a week, music every night for the "eat, drink and be merry" set. — Bimbos, 114 E. Washington; no cover

MAKE A NOTE: Tickets for all events at J. L. Hudson Stores — PTP Theater, Detroit Symphony concerts, shows at Cobo Arena, Masonic Temple, etc. — can be ordered by phone and charged directly to your account! Special service for men-about-town who prefer not to leave the house.

Why I couldn't quit trying to improve

By SUREN H. BABINGTON
Physician and Surgeon,
Berkeley, California

When I was growing up in Russia my father never let the family go to bed until we had assembled to read a chapter from the Bible. He made us children take part in this as soon as we could read and write. Following the reading he would pick out a sentence from the chapter and have us discuss it.

BABINGTON

One night it was my turn. After I finished chapter six from the Book of Matthew, Father asked me to re-read the 26th verse which said: "Behold the fowls of the air: for they sow not, neither do they reap nor gather into barns; yet your heavenly Father feedeth them."

"Son, what do you think of this text?" Father asked. I answered, "Dad, if God took care of us in the manner He takes care of the birds, you wouldn't have to work anymore."

"You are all wrong, Son," he said. "God gives the birds their food, but He doesn't throw it into their nests. If the birds did not work for their food, they'd die of starvation. I hope that you'll never expect things to drop into your lap. Birds don't."

I never forgot my father's advice. It has helped me under many difficult circumstances both in Russia and later in America.

I was 23 years old when I escaped from Communist Russia through Siberia and Manchuria. With the help of an American missionary doctor I came to the United States and here I found my struggle was only beginning, for my background ill-fitted me for a classless society. My family had been quite well-to-do in Russia, and before my escape I had been an officer in the Russian army.

I had always wanted to be a doctor. That had been my dream since childhood — and so why not go to college and become one? But I had landed in the United States with only six English words in my vocabulary, $3.65 in my pocket and nothing in the bank.

Yet obviously I had to eat, so I took the only job available — working for meals in a restaurant. I did housecleaning to earn a few dollars for books and tuition and enough for a place to sleep.

"To acquire a new language at your age, and then go through a most trying study of medicine would be impossible," I was told. "Why waste your time?"

Remembering my father's words about God and the birds, I said to myself, "Do these people think I expect success to drop into my lap?" And I buckled down to thoroughly master the English language.

After three years in college, I entered the University of California Medical School. During the first semester of my anatomy course, the professor invited me to his office and said, "Do you realize how hard it is going to be for the next four years? Probably one-half of your class will fail by the wayside and not graduate. If you make it, it's going to be still harder for you to succeed in practice. You should drop out right now and make room for others, unless you intend to go back to Russia to practice."

I knew I must go on. I had no intention of returning to Russia. I wanted to be an American doctor and make my life here. I made up my mind to study even harder so that I could make the grade.

Medical school was no easier in the 1920s than it is today. But I did get my M.D. at the University of California and completed postgraduate work at Stanford and Harvard.

Looking back over this long life, I view it less as a list of achievements than as a series of lessons in God's mysterious providence.

Listening to friends, teachers and colleagues — sometimes even to my own inner feelings of fear and inertia — I could have easily believed all these things were impossible, because I, too, once expected things to drop into my lap.

But it's not so. God and man share in a mutual creation of a better world. I owe that realization to my father's admonition made so long ago.

Sirhan 'like A wild beast'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — After drinking six ounces of gin in a jail cell test, Sirhan Bishara Sirhan became "like a wild beast" and began talking as if Sen. Robert F. Kennedy were still alive, a psychiatrist says.

"He never said he killed Kennedy," Dr. Eric Marcus told the jury Friday trying Sirhan for Kennedy's murder. "He kept talking as though Kennedy were alive. He said 'that bastard isn't worth the bullet.' With all my prodding he never said he killed Kennedy."

There has been testimony that Sirhan had three Tom Collins before shooting the New York senator in the Ambassador Hotel last June 5. Sirhan says he doesn't remember the shooting but does recall buying several drinks. The bartender's recipe for the gin mixture was duplicated in the drinks served Sirhan. Marcus described what happened next:

"Psychologically he went berserk. He was extremely agitated and restless and cursing and had to be physically restrained."

"He kept grabbing at this throat. He said 'What the hell is going on here?' He thought he was choking. He said 'I'll get even with those Jews.'"

"I think he thought he was back at the Ambassador Hotel. Then he started talking about how 20 years were enough for the Jews and Kennedy didn't help them ..."

"The alcohol triggered off some sort of an irritation. He became sort of like a wild beast."

The defense attempt to save Sirhan from the gas chamber based on showing "diminished responsibility," that he was incapable of planning the slaying.

A second defense psychiatrist, Dr. Bernard Diamond tried to reawaken Sirhan's memories of that night under hypnosis. He had barely begun his testimony Friday when the trial was adjourned for the weekend.

Marcus said Sirhan had thought about assassinations "for an awfully long period of time." He had been shown two books Sirhan used at a high school in Pasadena in 1964.

In one book, next to a passage about the assassination of President William McKinley, Sirhan had written: "Many more will come." In the second book, Sirhan had underlined a passage dealing with the assassination of Archduke Ferdinand of Austria-Hungary, which touched off World War I.

Spanish Restrictions To relax

MADRID (AP) — Gen. Francisco Franco has announced he will lift Spain's state of emergency a month early, but a spokesman warned Friday the government will deal severely with "any new attempt to perturb institutional peace and progress."

Franco signed a decree Friday announcing government restrictions will be relaxed and censorship will be lifted Tuesday to mark the 30th anniversary of the end of the civil war that brought him to power.

Franco enacted the state of emergency Jan. 24 after students, labor leaders and some politicians had staged a wave of demonstrations the government dubbed "an international conspiracy to destroy the peace." It was to have expired April 24.

The decree empowered the government to arrest persons without warrants and exile suspected subversives to remote provinces. It exiled 16 lawyers and professors, and arrested hundreds of students in the past two months.

Now most of the dissenters have gone underground and the universities of Madrid and Barcelona, both closed at the time of the decree, have been reopened.

Your daily astrology

FORECAST FOR MONDAY
"The wise man controls his destiny ... Astrology points the way."

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Accent on short trip. Develop ideas. Overcome tendency to scatter efforts. You can strike it rich today — takes persistence and confidence. Study investment possibilities.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Your appeal widens; more people express faith. Day to collect and pay debts. Leave no loose ends. You can successfully complete assignment. Stress on money, income potential.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Highlight originality. Lead — don't follow. Welcome new contacts. Take a chance on your abilities. Personality sparkles. Choose apparel with idea of making special appearance.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Much that occurs is behind the scenes. Be discreet. Don't tell all you know. Take steps to insure privacy. No need for doubt, fear. Key is to perform chores in quiet, efficient manner.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Some of your wishes are fulfilled. Depression vanishes. Surprise social activity brightens day. You get chance to prove ability. Hidden talent comes to fore. A fun time.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Career interests dominate. Lunar position emphasizes ambitions, standing in community. Prestige arises. You are proved correct on major issue. Exude confidence. You emerge victorious.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Accent on long-range views, goals. Travel planning is indicated. Fine for getting files in order. Good also for writing, advertising. Make known views to wider circle.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Money comes your way. You may be presented with beautiful gift. Accent on accounts, inventories. Discussion about finances may be necessary. Include mate, partner.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): If you insist on perfection, you are likely to be disappointed. Make intelligent concession. Don't try to be your own lawyer. Means get expert advice. Improve public relations.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You can reach better understanding with associates. Stand firm on principles. But avoid display of arrogance. Some who serve you deserve praise, compliment. Respond accordingly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Creative endeavors gain greater recognition. Day to complete rather than begin project. Give full play to intellectual curiosity. Means ask questions and obtain answers.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Stress on home, property. Make inquiries concerning values — now and tomorrow. Means get good idea of product worth. Fine for getting in on ground floor. Pounce on opportunity.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are a vital person; opposite sex is drawn to you. New project this month turns out in your favor. Be wary, throughout year, of legal pitfalls. Plan ahead. Make contacts which pay off big in 1970.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: People are restless, on the move; new fad could show up in high places.

Do it one more time, Braves!

Ottawa Hills last hurdle to 'A' crown

Ypsilanti High center Robin Raymond goes right around Mumford's Marvin Taylor for two of his 17 points in the Braves big victory last night in the semi-finals of the state tournament.

EAST LANSING — That long-anticipated rematch between last year's Class A state final contestants — champion Grand Rapids Ottawa Hills and runnerup Ypsilanti High — will climax a long day of state championship basketball today at Jenison Field House.

The 8:30 p.m. clash of the tribes was assured last evening when the Braves of Ypsilanti High, undefeated in 22 games, tripped Mumford, the Detroit Public School League champ, 67-55, and the Indians from the Furniture City nipped Detroit Northeastern, 69-66.

This morning's Class B final pitted perennial challenger River Rouge against Kalamazoo

Hackett. The Rouge got past Menominee, 82-69, and Hackett clubbed West Bloomfield, 75-57, to set up the pairing.

In the afternoon doubleheader for Class C and Class D laurels, a pair of undefeated parochials, Grosse Pointe St. Paul and Saginaw St. Stephen, battled in the division for larger schools while Detroit St. Martin and Marquette Baraga clashed in Class D. St. Paul bombed White Pigeon, 63-37, and St. Stephen clipped Houghton, 52-47, last night to set the "C" alignment. In "D," it was St. Martin 52, Weberville 44; and Baraga 72, Frankfort 57.

EAST LANSING — All year the critics have been saying it — that Ypsilanti High would never; that its record, although impressive, was accomplished against inferior competition.

Well, the cynics can talk all they want, but last night the Braves added another victim to their growing list which now totals 22.

They breezed into tonight's battle for the state's Class A championship by virtue of an impressive, 67-55 victory over Detroit Mumford, the champion of the Detroit City League. The Mustangs proved to be less competition than highly touted East Lansing, which the Braves polished off Wednesday to earn a spot in last night's semi-finals.

The game was played before a near-capacity crowd at Michigan State's Jenison Field House, but almost all of the noise came from the Braves' cheering section.

The game was close for the first six minutes. Then Ypsilanti High spurred to a 13-10 lead and ended the quarter ahead, 15-12. During that eight minute period the contest appeared as though it would be a real dogfight.

The Braves' Sid Frye, who had been below par earlier in the tourney, exploded for four baskets in that time to dominate the offense. He was aided by older brother Joe who added four points. The brothers' total was equal to the output of the Mustangs.

As expected, Mumford was led by 6-9 Marvin Taylor and guard Steve Harris, who had 10 of its 12 first-quarter points. The towering center finished the game with 15 points after being effectively handled by Braves' center Robin Raymond.

Raymond played one of his strongest games of the season, tossing in 17 points, one more than the younger of the Frye brothers, to take game honors. Seven of those points came in the second quarter when the Braves outscored Mumford, 20-15, and actually put the game "out of reach."

Mumford, and all basketball fans witnessing the drama, found out in the third quarter why the Braves surrender an average of only 48 points per game. The Mustangs were tied up most of the time and could manage only 11 points.

Joe Frye, with 12 points, was the third Brave in double figures. Bob Rhodin, who sat on the bench most of the game with foul trouble, and Charles Fuller each had nine.

Harris, who was guarded by the younger Frye, had 12 for Mumford.

The Braves now take their 21-0 record into tonight's final game against Ottawa Hills. Game time is 8:30 p.m. It will be carried on WAAM radio, 1600.

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — Michigan scored seven runs in the ninth inning, but it wasn't enough as Arizona State took an 18-14 baseball victory here Friday.

Where to put your money:

Search for the mouth

By DAVE HERBST
Press Sports Editor

EAST LANSING — To the coffee-sipping press-box perch where I suggested I put my money where he figures my mouth is:

Er, haven't you had your mouth transplanted recently, or does my memory serve me incorrectly ... didn't I hear you utter something about M — a month or so ago?

But that's okay. No harm done, as long as Bob doesn't catch wind of it. (Please mail clip to Basketball Coach Bob Hendrickson, in care of Ottawa Hills High School, Grand Rapids)

And Swami, you're doing well. Why, you didn't even have to ask which team Ypsilanti was.

A lesson in gracious losing, by Mumford Coach Taub. "I like to tell the kids, there are only four teams from the state up here. I'm still very happy with the season, and Ypsi has a fine ball team. Their coach does a real nice job, and the kids do a real nice job. They don't hog the ball."

Taub further said he believed his kids' game was satisfactory, "except we didn't put the ball in the bucket enough." He attributed much of the problem to the fact that the Mustangs weren't hitting from outside: Ypsilanti High was thus able to collapse its defense and muddle the efforts of 6-9 Marv Taylor.

One of the officials for last night's Ypsilanti High-Mumford game was Jim Eaddy, who recently completed a successful rookie season as coach at Grand Rapids Union High. Jim's kids handed East Christian its second defeat of the season, midway through the year, and gave Ottawa Hills fits in the regional tournament before bowing out, 61-57.

Twelve of the 16 teams that came to Lansing yesterday were league champions. Fifteen of the 16 had winning records entering the tournaments: only exception was Marquette-Barga, which started district play with an 8-10 mark.

Coach says LewCLA Is greatest; period

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — John Wooden, the UCLA basketball coach, was asked to evaluate the ability of Lew Alcindor against all the college players he has seen in a career spanning more than three decades.

Wooden smiled in that peculiarly shy, yet sly way he has, his blue eyes twinkled and he slowly held up one finger.

"Does that answer your question?" he asked.

Alcindor, the 7-foot-1½ giant who has, for the last three seasons, dominated the game as perhaps no other player in history, closed out his college career today, leading UCLA against powerful Purdue in the national championship game.

And make no mistake about it, he was the dominant factor as the Bruins sought an unprecedented third consecutive national title.

"He's just awe-inspiring," Purdue Coach George King said. "My big guys saw him against Drake in the semifinals and turned green. "His just being there, just standing there is enough, even if he doesn't do anything else." Wooden concurred.

"His just being in there dictates the offense and the defense opposing teams must play against us and, yes, dictates the offense and defense we play," Wooden said.

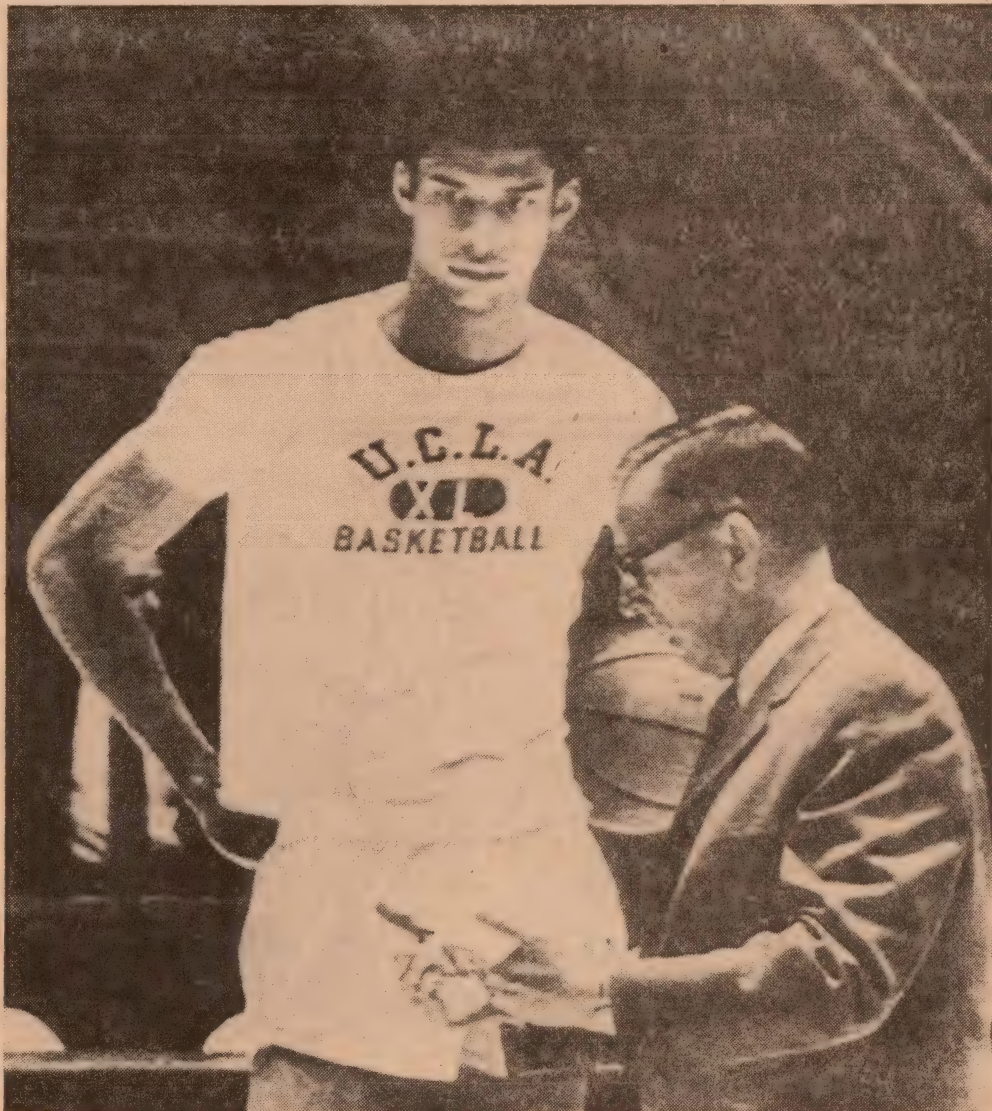

"He doesn't score as much as other players, perhaps. He might not even be in the top 10 or 20, but for his value to a team, for his overall contribution, he has to be No. 1. If I were to start to pick a team, he's the one I'd start with."

They were 28-1 for the season and ranked first in the nation, while Purdue carried the No. 6 ranking and a 23-4 mark into the showdown at 4:15 p.m., EST.

Fourth-ranked North Carolina, 27-4, and No. 11 Drake, 25-5, played earlier for third place.

Asked if Alcindor were under unusual pressure as he sought a third championship and how he was reacting, Wooden replied:

"He is under the greatest pressure in the history of college basketball. No player was ever under the pressure experienced by Lewis Alcindor. I'm amazed that he has stood up as well as he has.

represents a rematch of schools, it certainly doesn't cast the same personnel as last year. In the case of both the Braves and Indians, only two current starters were in the opening alignment when Ottawa snared the title here last year, 76-68.

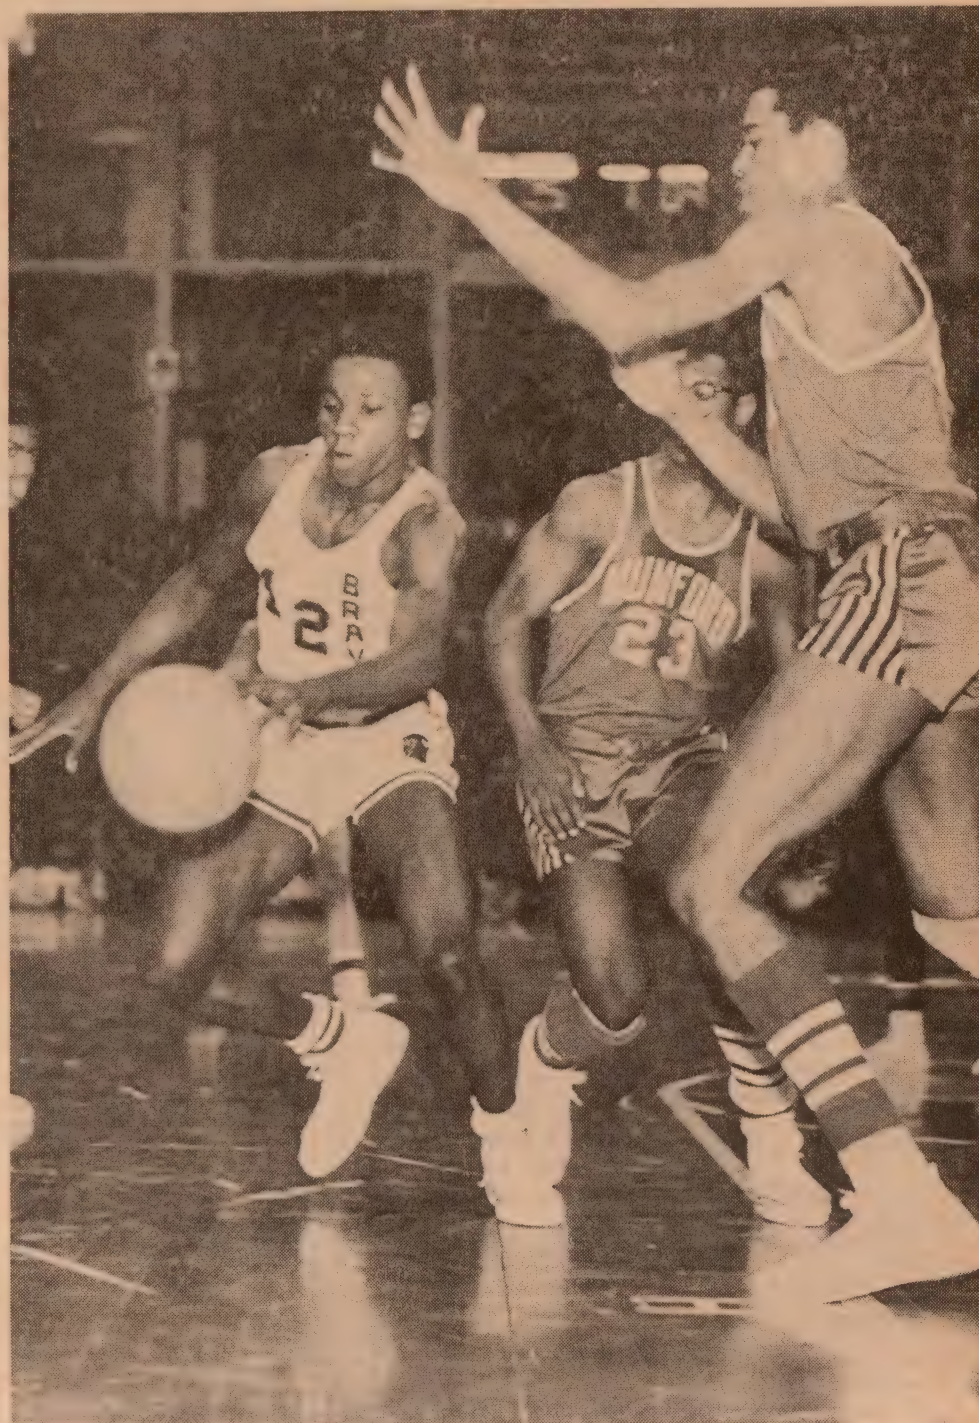

Gone from the Ottawa Hills lineup are such key figures as Ernie Cryer, who devastated the Braves with his 25 points and cat-like defensive play, and forecourt strong-man Otis Smith, who was second-high Indian scorer in the title game with 15 points.

Chief returnee is Ernie Johnson, perhaps the best player in the Grand Rapids City League this year. Johnson last night scored 20 points as the Indians held off Bill Robinson and Detroit Northeastern's desperate bid for an upset.

Bob Hendrickson's quintet was working on one of the longest winning streaks in the state until late in the season, when East Christian, a Class B powerhouse, pulled the upset lever. The Indians take a 21-1 mark into tonight's encounter.

Ypsilanti High, meanwhile, features Bob Rhodin and Robin Raymond as its regulars making a second start in the state final. Gone from last year's starting alignment are center, Craig Larsen and guard Al Richison and Ron Palmer.

Sid Frye of Ypsilanti High dribbles away from Mumford's two biggest stars, Steve Harris (23) and Marvin Taylor during the first half of last night's game won by the Braves 67-55.

Eastern Michigan tankers Retain lead in NAIA meet

CHICAGO — The Eastern Michigan swimmers sought to protect their point lead and successfully defend their NAIA national swimming title here today.

The Hurons of Coach Mike Jones entered the day's seven-event program with a 180-157 edge over Claremont B.C., the same team that followed the Hurons in the team race after Thursday's first set of events. Simon Fraser College of Vancouver, B.C., was a close third at 154 points as today's action began.

MacAlester (Minn.) was next with 89 points and Eastern Illinois fifth with 75.

Friday was another day of record-smashing performances, as six NAIA records came out of the same number of events.

Eastern Michigan didn't figure in any of the national records, but did rush to five varsity records, bringing its total for the meet to nine varsity marks and one national record.

The Hurons could also boast of being the only team to score in all 11 events so far — sort of fulfilling ones' promise that the 18-man squad would show fine balance in scoring.

Doug Webster, who put on a sparkling display last year to spearhead Eastern's drive to the national crown, came out of the record book in two more areas, as Jeff Huxley of Ypsilanti swam the 200-yard freestyle in 1:49.7 and Leonard Brookhahn went the 400-yard individual medley in 4:34.8.

FRIDAY'S RESULTS
200-yard butterfly: 1. David Tempkin (Claremont Mudd), 1:58.25

(NAIA record, breaks 1:59.54 set earlier in the day by Tempkin; old record was 2:03.0); 2. Gordon Messer (EM), 1:59.01 (EMU varsity record, breaks 1:59.70 set earlier in the day by Messer; old record was 2:03.6 by Messer).

200-yard freestyle: 1. Kim Cummings (Adams State), 1:45.73 (NAIA record, breaks 1:45.86 set earlier in the day by Cummings; old record was 1:49.5); Consolation: 7. Jeff Huxley (EM), 1:49.7 (EMU varsity record, breaks 1:49.3 by Doug Webster); 11. Craig Andersen (EM), 1:51.11; 12. Bruce Crouch (EM), 1:52.23.

100-yard breaststroke: 1. Dan Furlan (Eastern Illinois), 59.64 (NAIA record, breaks 1:00.4 set earlier in the day by Furlan; old record was 1:01.9); 4. Dennis Betts (EM), 1:02.85 (EMU varsity record, breaks 1:03.1 set earlier in the day by Betts; old record was 1:04.3 by Betts).

100-yard backstroke: 1. Alex Fedko (Simon-Fraser), 55.77 (NAIA record, breaks record of 56.1 seconds); 4. Lester McCormick (EM), 56.77 seconds.

400-yard individual medley: 1. Ken Tillman (Monmouth), 4:20.3 (NAIA record, breaks 4:27.02 set earlier in the day by Tillman; old record was 4:27.4 by Tillman). Consolations: 8. Leonard Brookhahn (EM), 4:34.8 (EMU varsity record, breaks 4:36.7 by Doug Webster); 9. John Zang (EM), 4:36.49; 10. Bob Foley (EM), 4:36.83.

800-yard freestyle relay: 1. Claremont Mudd, 7:15.44 (NAIA record, breaks 7:19.56 set earlier in the day by Claremont Mudd; old record was 7:30.2 by Claremont Mudd); 3. Eastern Michigan (Jeff Huxley, Dennis Rogisart, Craig Andersen, Bruce Crouch), 7:23.7 (EMU varsity record, breaks 7:26.09 set earlier in the day; old record was 7:30.41).

Tiger bats start to boom again, Bengals snap 5 game streak

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — In case the Philadelphia Phillies weren't aware of the remarkable come-from-behind skills the World Champion Detroit Tigers used to great advantage last season, they got a taste Friday.

The Tigers came up with a ninth-inning rally to subdue the Phillies 4-2 and snap a five-game losing streak in exhibition baseball.

"A guy as old as I am doesn't get many of those," commented outfielder Al Kaline after starting the rally off by beating out a swinging bunt down the third base line.

Kaline also hit a home run in the seventh, his first round tripper of the exhibition season, and belted a double, going three for four and expanding his spring batting average to a healthy .389.

"I'm almost in the groove now," the 34-year-old Kaline said after the game. "Every now and then I'm hitting the ball and I'm just about there. The ball's beginning to jump off the bat now and this is encouraging," Kaline said. "When I see this I know I'm not far from having everything down."

After five straight losses, the Tigers finally looked like they wanted to win.

"Nobody likes to lose," manager Mayo Smith said after the game. "Even in these games I don't know anybody who likes to lose."

Pitcher Earl Wilson was shaky at first, giving up two singles to Ron Stone and Cookie Rojas before Deron Johnson knocked a single through the infield for a run in the first.

But he settled down in quick fashion, retiring the next 10 men in a row.

"I'm throwing the ball better this spring than I did last year," said Wilson, who allowed four hits and the one run in five innings of pitching. "I'm coming along pretty well and I'm satisfied," the big right hander added.

The Tigers entered the ninth trailing 2-1 before Kaline beat out the roller to third to lead off the inning. Norm Cash walked and Willie Horton tied the game with a soft line single.

Tom Matchick forced a runner at third with an unsuccessful bunt attempt and Don Wert lifted a soft fly to left. But the Bengals' chances were kept alive when Don Money bobbled a routine grounder from the bat of catcher Hector Valle to fill the bases.

Smith brought in Joe Cernich to bat for pitcher Fred Lasher and the catcher watched three straight balls go by to walk and force in a run on a base on balls.

Off the field, Mickey Stanley made a visit to Lakeland's Watson Clinic for treatment of a sore arm that has failed to respond to heat. Stanley hurt the arm making an off-balance throw the first day of spring training. Doctors say it appears he strained a muscle below the arm pit.

Ypsilanti High's Joe Frye finds the going a bit rough as he tries to drive to the basket against Mumford's Marvin Taylor in last night's semi-final game at East Lansing.

Long chase ends—

Few surprises left in state As March Madness takes toll

Rouge favored

EAST LANSING (AP) — Powerful River Rouge goes after its ninth Class B state basketball championship in 15 years today against a flashy Kalamazoo Hackett team paced by two high-scoring players.

The Rouge Panthers trimmed a determined Menominee quintet 82-69 Friday in the semifinal round of the high school tournament at East Lansing.

Hackett overpowered Orchard Lake West Bloomfield 75-57 behind the slick shooting of Bob Caligton, who fired in 31 points, and Amos Jones, who scored 21.

Despite the 13-point victory edge over Menominee, Rouge Coach Lofton Greene cautiously warned after the game that the Panthers "will have to be higher than this" in 1969 before he became the coach of Baltimore.

Seattle's high man was Erwin Mueller with 15 points. Shue's Bullets clinched the Eastern Division championship whipping the Chicago Bulls, 115-103. The Cinderella-like Bullets thus became the second team in NBA history to jump from last place to first in one season.

Menominee never led but tied the Panthers four times in the first half.

In the first Class B semifinal, Kalamazoo Hackett relied on the shooting and playmaking of Caligton to win easily over West Bloomfield. Caligton pumped in 17 of his 31 points in the first half, to top both teams.

Hackett led all the way, taking advantage of sloppy ball handling by West Bloomfield. The Lakers lost the ball 28 times on turnovers and hit on only 20 of 51 shots from the floor, for a 39.2 per cent average. Hackett got 34 of 65 for 52.3 per cent.

Both River Rouge's key man, Kilgore, and the Panther coach, Greene, agreed their team will have to do better against Hackett.

"I thought the two quick buckets we got at the start of the fourth quarter were the key," Greene said. "Menominee's foul trouble also helped a lot—they had to play us pretty loose."

Kilgore, who said he was surprised at how good the Maroons were, added, "Our ball handling wasn't too good today."

Saints march

LANSING (AP) — Surprising White Pigeon met its match Friday night, bowing 63-37 to Grosse Pointe St. Paul in Class C semifinal state high school basketball tournament action.

In scoring the overwhelming romp, St. Paul became the only team in semifinal action to rebound from an early deficit, qualifying for a Saturday afternoon meeting with unbeaten Saginaw St. Stephen in the Class C final.

Earlier in the Lansing civic center doubleheader, St. Stephen had squeaked to a 52-47 win over Houghton to keep its unbeaten string intact at 23.

White Pigeon had swept to an early 8-1 margin in the evening's second game, but the Lakers then put on a 12-0 spree to take a 13-8 first-quarter lead, going on to a 27-16 halftime edge.

Jim Bignam led the comeback-destroying Lakers, ranked sixth in the final Associated Press poll, with 9 points, followed by Dennis Hayes and Mike Corcaran with 14 each.

For Saginaw St. Stephen coach Sam Franz, tomorrow will be the second visit to the state Class C finals. His 1954 Saginaw St. Mary team took the crown.

St. Stephen was never really out of trouble in its game, leading by just three at the half and after three quarters, but then the Titans clicked on five straight free throws in the last two minutes to cop the game.

Six-foot soph Pete Miller led Titan scring with 23, while junior guard Gary Lange led game scorers with 18 for Houghton.

Last UP team

LANSING (AP) — Detroit St. Martin and Marquette Bishop Baraga found the scoring range early in their semifinal games Friday and now must face each other Saturday for the Class D state high school basketball championship.

St. Martin won a tight 52-44 game over Webberville at Lansing Waverly high school, while Bishop Baraga beat Frankfort 72-57 in a game at Lansing Everett high.

St. Martin outscored Webberville 17-6 in the first quarter and since the Spartans had difficulty making free throws couldn't overcome the Cadets from Detroit.

Jim Essian and Ted Goolsby each tallied 18 points to lead St. Martin while Sam Glover and Ed Anzel both netted 12 for the losers.

Webberville narrowed the lead to 40-37 early in the fourth quarter but five straight free throws and a bucket by Goolsby put St. Martin out of reach.

Bishop Baraga was hot from the start as the Royals pumped in 23 points in the first quarter against 12 for Frankfort. The Panthers never could overcome the deficit despite 24 points from Steve Jeffs and 4 and 2 respectively from Steve Hornsby and Don Crawford.

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Michigan State outlasted Army 1-0 Friday in a early round of the Miami Collegiate Invitational Baseball Tournament.

Played at the University of Miami, who Michigan State meets today, the single run by Richie Jordan broke a string of 16 straight scoreless innings by Army pitchers.

Coach Marvin Johnson figured it would be, and perhaps a little stronger. Eastern was second last season, but suffered heavy losses from that team.

John Ellis of Northwest won the all-around with 50 points. Eastern's Tim Reilly was sixth with 43.8 points while Lannie Mills scored 42.4 points for eighth place.

Twenty-three teams are entered in the competition, which concludes today. Today's program will be to determine individual championships.

TED GUTHARD ... leaving EMU

Guthard Leaving Eastern

Ted Guthard, offensive coordinator last year and offensive line coach for the two years preceding, resigned yesterday from his football post at Eastern Michigan to take a position on the staff at Wake Forest, Winston-Salem, N.C.

Guthard, a native of Detroit, will take over duties at Wake Forest as soon as he can be relieved of his responsibilities at Eastern.

One of the rare athletes who can boast of having played major college football without the benefit of high school experience, Guthard saw action at Michigan State University in 1960-61-62 following graduation from Detroit Denby High. He played both offensive center and defensive end.

He's considered the dean of the EMU staff with his three seasons of duty.

Canadian Miss Leads tourney

PORT CHARLOTTE, Fla. (AP) — Sandra Post, 20-year-old LPGA rookie of the year in 1968, shot a 71 Friday to take the first round lead in the $15,000 Port Charlotte Invitational Golf Tournament.

Miss Post, who banked some $18,000 in her first year of competition on the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour, turned the first nine in 35 with two birdies and a bogey and came home in 36.

The two-under-par performance by the pretty Canadian professional was good for a one-stroke lead over four players including last year's top LPGA money winner, Kathy Whitworth.

Must look Out for 'Insiders'

NEW YORK (AP) — A tip for growing conglomerate companies: Watch out for the insider. He can ruin you. He can block every move. He's liable to shoot down your innovative ideas until in desperation you're forced to fire him.

The tip comes from Dr. Eugene Jennings, a professor, psychologist and accountant who picks and probes his way through corporate management so thoroughly he has been called the best informed man on the subject.

The insider, Jennings has found after studying and consulting with many companies, is often overlooked as an adversary by a company taking over another. But after the contracts have been signed he can ruin a corporate marriage.

Who is he? He is a man who has spent his life with the company being taken over. He knows its history. He is its conscience. It's "his" company, and his company does things a certain way. He is rigid, uncooperative.

He is habituated, patterned. His self-image depends on his relationship with his company.

DeLorenzo wins Special honor

General Motors vice president in charge of public relations Anthony G. DeLorenzo, the holder of an honorary doctorate from Cleary College, has been named 1968 Public Relations Professional of the Year by Public Relations News, an international weekly designed for management and public relations executives.

The selection was made by a poll of the regions served by the magazine.

DeLorenzo, 54, is recognized as "an aggressive advocate of the principle that business organizations must serve society effectively and must let people know — and get them to understand — what they are doing and what they plan to do," the magazine stated in its article explaining his selection.

ANTHONY DELORENZO

He is a University of Wisconsin graduate and former newspaperman working in the Midwest. In 1949 he joined the public relations staff of General Motors and in 1956 he became director.

Among other honors he has received, in 1958 he received an honorary degree of doctor of science in business administration at Cleary.

3. F.W. Dodge Corporation, 1415 Trumbull, Detroit, Michigan.

4. Builders Exchange of Detroit, 1351 E. Jefferson, Detroit, Michigan.

Proposals shall be made on forms furnished by the Architect, and based on a Lump Sum Contract.

Copies of the plans and specifications may be obtained from the Architect, at Ypsilanti, by making a deposit of fifty ($50.00) dollars for each set of plans and documents.

The full amount of the deposit will be returned to each bidder returning documents, in good condition, to the Architect's Office within ten (10) days after bids are opened.

A certified check, cashier's check or bidder's bond, payable to the Board of Education of Willow Run Public Schools, for the sum of not less than five (5%) per cent of the amount of the Base Proposal, will be required with each Proposal.

The right is reserved by the Board of Education to accept or reject any, or all Proposals, and to waive informalities in Proposals.

No bids may be withdrawn for at least thirty (30) days from the date set for receiving Proposals.

Drawings and specifications will be available and ready for distributing on March 19, 1969.

Tech talk

By GILES F. CARTER

EMU Director of State Technical Services

A new grade of stainless steel, designated 216, has outstanding properties: fifty per cent more strength in the annealed condition, high fatigue strength, better high-temperature strength, very low magnetic permeability, and superior pitting resistance compared with type 316 stainless steel.

The new type 216 has equivalent corrosion resistance to 316 stainless, the leader in corrosion resistance of stainless steels.

The new stainless contains .08 per cent carbon maximum, 8.25 per cent manganese, 19.75 per cent chromium, 6 per cent nickel, 2.5 per cent molybdenum, and .37 per cent nitrogen.

Welding characteristics are similar to other austenitic stainless steels. Expected applications include springs, woven wire cloth, rope wire, valve seats and stems, bushings, bolts, pins, fasteners, rollers, and shafting.

Special applications include marine hardware, space hardware, and in equipment for the chemical, petrochemical, pulp and paper industries.

Plastic Boards

A new process has recently been developed to extrude structural foams from thermoplastics. Any thermoplastic can be extruded and expanded in the new process. Densities as low as one-third of bulk density are obtained.

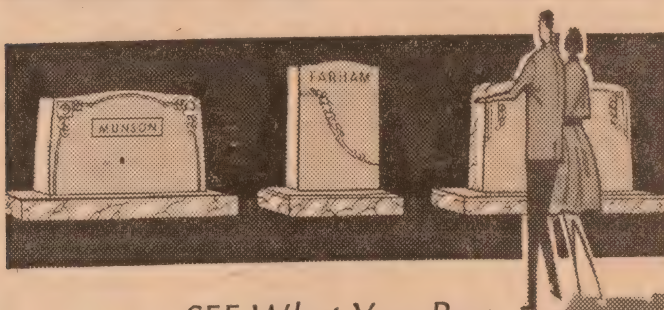

Potential applications include replacements for wood or profile extrusions for building, large-diameter pipe, insulation for small-diameter pipe, jacketing for high tension wires, and in sandwich panels with various combinations of structural and insulating properties.

The skin of the extruded foam is solid and smooth — only the inner core is foamed. The foamed boards may be held together by conventional wood screws.

Cut Non-metals with Gas Lasers

A carbon dioxide gas laser has been commercialized recently for cutting and slitting plastics and other non-metals. The operating cost of the laser is 20¢ hr., and it can perform tasks impossible with conventional mechanical techniques. Heating is localized and rapid, preventing charring and bead formation. Cutting is also faster than by conventional methods. The beam diameter is 1.5 cm, and focus size down to .004 inch. The cost is $11,900.

Questions from local industries on technological needs and problems can be sent to Prof. Carter in care of The Press, or directly to him at Eastern Michigan University, 483-6100, ext. 2189.

Frank doesn't believe in "Hard Sell" just hard work. "List your property where the action is" he says. A member of the one million per year club, Frank knows that keeping on the move "moves property."

Call him to see a large four-bedroom home in Pittsfield Township. This home is a tri-level and has lovely brick fireplace. Price $35,000.

Mary has been pleasing customers for the past twelve years with conscientious service. She knows the details of financing and will be glad to talk with you.

Mary can show you a three bedroom home with two baths, sun-porch and attached two-car garage all for $24,900 on terms.

Give Gordon a call for thorough professional service that inspires confidence. Twenty years of dealing in both commercial and residential properties qualifies him to list and sell your home or property expertly.

One of Gordon's current listings on the West Side of Ypsilanti: 95 South Mansfield. This home has three bedrooms, a full basement and garage. Price is $24,500, on FHA Loan.

Twenty years a school teacher in the area, Jack is well-acquainted with the particulars of Real Estate properties. Call Jack anytime at home or office to see any of our listings.

One prime listing of Jack's is a Colonial Style with three bedrooms upstairs, 1 1/2 baths and attached two-car garage. Modern built-in kitchen. $26,500. FHA.

With an always up-to-date list of the properties for sale in Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor and surrounding areas, Betty will have what you want in a home or lot. She keeps up with the changing facts in real estate and business by attending many courses of study available in financing and Real Estate.

Let Betty show you her 'now' listing. Four bedroom colonial home with two baths, large garage and fenced back yard. Modern kitchen with built-ins and one block from grammar school. $24,500. FHA.

"SOLD" signs speak for themselves. Let John list and sell your property and you'll be pleased with the results. He will take care of the details.

MILAN LISTING — Four bedroom Cape Cod with aluminum siding. Extra-large lot with two-car garage. $23,500.00.

Wendell has been personally interested in financing for many years. Recently he attended an intense course of study at the U of M in Real Estate.

Ask to see income property on Ellsworth Road. Four Bedroom two-story home with one bedroom income home in the back. $35,000 full price.

Edie keeps in close contact with all her customers and informs them of all properties which may serve their needs. Working from home, she answers any questions regarding Real Estate.

Edie is currently working with a resort-type home on South Lake. A spacious home with all the luxuries and located on 27 acres of wooded land with 1,300 feet of lake frontage. $110,000.

REAL ESTATE & INSURANCE

ATTRACTIVE RANCH HOME: Very fine three bedroom brick veneer ranch home all in the best of condition. This home has a beautifully finished basement with a fourth bedroom finished down there and also a finished recreation room and a second bath. Modern kitchen with built-in oven and stove. Aluminum screen and storm windows. Wall to wall carpet in living room. Gas heat. This is priced right at $23,600 and we have applied for an FHA mortgage commitment so that the purchase may be handled on convenient terms. Estimated down payment (subject to FHA appraisal) around $1,500 plus mortgage costs.

HICKORY HILLS RANCH HOME: We had this 3 bedroom brick ranch home in the attractive Hickory Hills section on the market last fall — but sale at that time required around $10,000 down, too much for most folks. We have now secured an FHA commitment for $23,400 so that deal can be handled for $1,600 down plus closing costs. Full basement, Extra well insulated, Built in oven and stove. Gas heat, Aluminum screens and storm windows. Garbage disposal. $25,000.

BETWEEN YPSILANTI AND BELLEVILLE: This custom built split level brick home is only 1 year old and has 4 bedrooms in all, 3 upstairs, and one down. Three zone gas fired hot water baseboard type heating system. Kitchen has stainless steel stove. Living room, hall, and all 4 bedrooms, carpeted wall to wall. Full bath up and half bath down. Romney's Letter is Welcomed

Bond commitment Not inherited

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has welcomed former Gov. George Romney's statements in a letter that the Romney administration had made "no commitment to a precise formula" for distribution of the $100 million recreation bond issue.

"I welcome Gov. Romney's restatement of the position he took during the bond campaign and which he still holds," Milliken said.

"I particularly appreciate his statement that he had consistently stated during the bond campaign that final determination of the allocation would be made by the Legislature based upon recommendations by the governor, and that 'these monies should be used to address the high priority needs of Michigan using the latest available information on those needs,'" Milliken said.

Romney's letter was published Friday in the Detroit Free Press.

Milliken has recommended spending more than $53 million in urban areas.

Some critics have accused Milliken of breaking faith with the voters, saying Romney had recommended that $70 million be spent on state projects such as campsites and fish hatcheries and $30 million in urban areas.

"While I had discussed a tentative 70-30 formula breakdown in my 1968 budget message," Romney said in the letter, "from the beginning of the bond campaign in July and on all later occasions where I spoke in favor of the bond issue, I repeatedly stressed that there was no commitment to a 70-30 formula."

"In a speech to the leadership of all the statewide organizations supporting the bond issue in Lansing on Aug. 21, 1968, I made it clear that the final determination would be made by the Legislature," Romney stated.

Romney said the Aug. 21 meeting was attended by representatives of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, other conservation groups, the Department of Natural Resources and some legislators.

"I recognize that material was passed out during the bond campaign by the Department of Natural Resources indicating a 70-30 allocation," Romney said. "However, I reached an understanding at the beginning of the campaign with the director of the Department of Natural Resources that all speeches and materials given by the department should include the qualification that their recommendation could only be tentative, and that the actual allocation would be made by the Legislature upon recommendation from the governor."

"It is unfortunate," Romney said, "that some literature developed before the actual campaign began did not point out the tentative nature of such a formula."

Parties both join Michigan Week

LANSING (AP) — The Democratic and Republican state chairmen have been named co-chairmen of the Michigan week government day this year.

Democratic Chairman James McNeely and Republican Chairman William McLaughlin will emphasize participation in politics as the theme of the May 9 Government Day.
